Indian Jet Crashes; 117 Killed

Airplane Bound for New York Hits Mountain in France

CHAMONIX, France (AP) — An Air India jetliner with 117 persons reported aboard crashed into snow-covered Mont Blanc today and the French police said no survivors could be found.

The gendarmerie headquarters here at the foot of Western Europe's highest mountain said a helicopter landed at the crash scene but no one was found alive.

The plane, on a flight from India to New York, crashed at a point called La Tournette, about 1,500 feet below the peak on the Chamonix side. It was preparing to land at Geneva.

The French police said it would be impossible to send a land party up the 15,781-foot mountain at this season. The bodies were to be brought down by helicopter.

106 Passengers

Air India said the Boeing 707 jet carried 106 passengers — eight of them bound for New York — and a crew of 11.

The airline said one of the passengers was the chairman of India's Atomic Energy Commission, Dr. Homi J. Bhabha, 57, who was en route to Vienna, Austria for a meeting of the International Atomic Energy Agency.

The airline said an earlier report that the Indian irrigation minister, K. L. Rao, was aboard was incorrect. It said he boarded the plane at Bombay but left it at New Delhi, its first stop.

The airline said 20 of the passengers were to get off in Geneva, 54 were going to Paris and 24 to London.

Officials at Geneva's Cointrin Airport said Capt. J.T. D'Souza, the plane captain, received a green light for landing after reporting his position four miles from Mont Blanc.

Veteran Pilot

D'Souza was copilot on Pope Paul VI's flight from Rome to Bombay last year, and a veteran of 18 years on the Bombay-New York run.

D'Souza reported his instruments were in perfect working order and that he was approaching Mont Blanc in an altitude of 19,000 feet — a safe margin over the peak.

Seconds later, all radio and radar contact with the plane was lost.

A resident of Pre Saint Didier, on the Italian side, Edoardo Silvestri, told authorities he was in the vicinity of the Pre Saint Didier railway station and saw

Bobby Baker Enters Plea Of Innocent

Former Senate Democratic Aide Faces 9 Charges

WASHINGTON (AP)—Bobby Baker, former secretary to Senate Democrats, pleaded innocent today to a nine-count indictment charging him with tax evasion, conspiracy, theft, transportation of stolen money and fraud. His trial was set for Oct. 17.

Baker, 38, said only "not guilty" as he stood before U.S. Dist. Judge Mathew McGuire after a court clerk read the list of charges against him.

Baker, wearing a blue suit, shirt and tie, sat in the courtroom for about 10 minutes as he waited for his arraignment.

His attorneys, Edward Bennett Williams of Washington and Boris Kostelanetz of New York, accompanied him to the bench when his case was called.

Set Bail

McGuire, on the suggestion of Asst. U. S. Atty. William Bittman, set Baker's bail at $5,000. He ordered Baker fingerprinted after the arraignment and told his lawyers to be sure all motions pertaining to the trial are out of the way by June 27.

As he left the courtroom, Baker was surrounded by newsmen and curious bystanders. But Williams said neither Baker nor his attorneys would comment on the case.

Former Nevada Lt. Gov. Clifford Jones, who was indicted for perjury in the case, pleaded innocent in the same court last week. His trial was scheduled for May 23.

Seal Hunter Adrift on Ice For 15 Hours

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — A 53-year-old seal hunter spent 15 hours on a drifting ice floe before being picked up Sunday by a helicopter 40 miles off the west coast of the Alaska Peninsula.

The hunter, Migeley Kelly of the fishing village of Egegik, was reported in good condition today in the Alaska native hospital where he was taken for treatment of frostbitten hands and back pains.

Kelly and fellow hunter Dimitri Oaks were crossing the ice of Egegik Bay, about 400 miles southwest of here, Saturday when it broke up and left him stranded on a chunk about 12 feet square. Oaks made it to shore.

Kelly was swept out into Bristol Bay, where Air Force officials reported there were winds of about 45 miles an hour, temperatures of around 30 degrees and swells 10 to 20 feet high.

$568 Per Capita Projected Federal Spending for '67

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson wants the government to spend $568.36 for each man, woman and child in the country in the year starting July 1.

That's what the President's proposed $112.8-billion budget comes to on a per capita basis, using the Census Bureau's estimate that the population on Jan. 1, 1967 — the middle of the fiscal year — will be 198,549,600.

By the end of the fiscal year June 30, 1967, the public debt will total $321.7 billion, Johnson said. Based on a fiscal year-end population estimate of 199,845,600 that comes to $1,609.74 per person.

The Census Bureau figures that the population goes up by 1 every second — or 7,200 per day. The figures are computed from the time the bureau stopped its official census count at 10 a.m. EST on Aug. 26, 1965 when the population reached 195 million.

Johnson Presents Record $112.8-Billion U.S. Budget

Expenses of Waging War, Additional Nuclear Arms Estimated at $57 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — For $57.15 billion, President Johnson calculates, the United States can provide in the next fiscal year whatever is needed for waging war in Viet Nam and add to general defenses such items as a second nuclear carrier.

This was outlined in the military portion of the federal budget for fiscal 1967 which the President sent to Congress today.

Submission of the annual budget followed by only a few days a Pentagon request for a $12.3-billion addition to the current military budget.

That supplemental request, the second augmentation of the budget for the fiscal year ending next June 30, provided all of the manpower increase requested for this and the next fiscal year to reach an authorized strength by June 30, 1967, of 3,093,000 men in the armed forces. Therefore, the new budget shows no further increase.

Two Supplements

Similarly, the two supplements to the current budget probably accounted for a large part of the planned procurement of ammunition for the next year and a half. Those supplements raised the total of ammunition procurement, which Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara says will make available "massive firepower" in Viet Nam, to $4.1 billion.

The budget proposals contained somewhat of a surprise for the Navy — Johnson asked funds to begin building another atomic carrier.

The Navy had been urging another nuclear carrier for several years, basing its recommendation on the performance of the first such carrier, the Enterprise.

The proposed new carrier will use two, instead of the four reactors powering the Enterprise. But improvement in reactor efficiency is expected to give the new carrier substantially the speed and range of the Enterprise. The cost, however, probably will not be many millions below that of the Enterprise because of rising material and labor prices. Speculation had been that the new carrier might cost about $400 million.

Johnson dropped into his budget message a sentence mentioning "initial procurement of the new, improved Minuteman LLL missile.

His message did not elaborate on the Minuteman III. However, he may have been referring to reported improvements and refinements of the Minuteman II series, believed to include devices to help the warhead escape detection and interception. The range and other characteristics may not be greatly changed, but the "penetration aid" devices would be of major importance.

There were published reports in April 1964 of a test of a Minuteman missile which showed some remarkable characteristics. As the test missile arched downward toward its target, several rocket-powered warheads were released from the capsule. Radar and other electronic tracking gear which had been following the warhead suddenly showed confusion. False blips and patterns showed on the screen, while the main warhead plunged on into the target.

The budget proposal also calls

President Promises He Will Return for More if War In Viet Nam Gets Bigger

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson sent to Congress today a $112.8-billion budget, by far the biggest in history, with a notice that he may come back for more money and new taxes if the war in Viet Nam gets hotter.

He warned also that the military build-up, on top of an expected 7 per cent surge in national output, will "raise the threat of price instability" as the booming economy nears full employment.

This inflationary risk makes necessary "some moderate restraint through tax policy," Johnson said. He asked quick approval of the $4.8-billion step-up of income, corporate and excise taxes already sent to Congress.

These revenues, plus the tax collections generated by an unprecedented sixth straight year of economic growth, Johnson said, will provide $111 billion of receipts in fiscal 1967 and bring the budget within $1.8 billion of a balance.

That would be the smallest deficit in seven years — and it can be achieved, Johnson said, even with a net increase of $2.1 billion in spending for his "Great Society" programs of education, health, housing and manpower development.

"Inflation need not be the price of social progress; nor should it be a cost of defending freedom," Johnson told Congress.

His blueprint for taxing and spending in the government year starting next July 1 had these further highlights:

Defense —

Outlays for over-all defense-related spending will soar to $60.5 billion, up more than $10 billion from last year and nearly $4 billion from this year. Besides building muscle for Viet Nam, the Pentagon will start a second $400-million nuclear-powered aircraft carrier and begin procurement of the Minuteman III, an advanced intercontinental missile.

Poverty War

Poverty —

The second full year of the war on poverty will bring outlays of $1.6 billion compared to $1.2 billion this year.

Space —

The first downturn in space outlays is budgeted — $5.3 billion in fiscal 1967 as against $5.6 billion this year. But this will "sustain our progress in space exploration" and not alter the major goal, a man on the moon in this decade.

Taxes —

A small but unexpected further tax boost was proposed—a rise from 5 to 6 per cent in the excise levy on airplane passenger tickets.

Federal outlays for education were estimated at $2.8 billion, a 23 per cent increase from this year as the new programs passed by Congress in 1965 hit full stride.

Labor—

5 Persons Die In Collision of Private Planes

Former Appleton Woman Victim of Rockton Crash

ROCKTON, Ill. (AP) — Five persons were killed Sunday as two private planes collided over a cornfield near Rockton, about five miles south of Beloit, Wis.

Among the victims was a former Appleton, Wis., woman, her husband and their daughter. Their son was critically injured.

Killed were James Badner, 30, owner of a photography studio at Aurora, Ill.; his 29-year-old wife, the former Gail Samuelson of Appleton; their 2-year-old daughter, Janie; Harry H. Toigo, 30, an Aurora businessman, and Francis Perrault, 28, Chicago, Ill.

Perrault was a student pilot, police said.

The Badners' 4-year-old son, Carey, was listed in very critical condition today at Beloit Memorial Hospital.

Just Took Off

The Badners and Toigo, executive of a soft drink firm, had just taken off from an air strip at the Wagon Wheel Lodge, a restaurant and resort near Rockton. Perrault was flying alone from Janesville, Wis., to Joliet, Ill., practicing landings and takeoffs, authorities said.

A witness, Leslie Coan of Rockford, Ill., said the planes were flying parallel when one suddenly banked and the two collided.

The Badners' craft plunged into a field. The bodies were pinned in the wreckage with the daughter in Mrs. Badner's arms.

Perrault's plane shattered as it plummeted into a grove of trees.

New Year Truce Ends

Allied Forces Launch New Searches for Communists

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U. S. and South Vietnamese forces set out with renewed vigor to search out the Communists in several major operations today after a lunar New Year truce that brought scant peace to Viet Nam.

As the 3¼-day allied truce expired at 6 o'clock Sunday night, U. S. Air Force planes went into action and struck a Viet Cong main force. A forward air controller estimated 190 Communists killed, a U. S. spokesman said.

The ground thrusts brought no immediate significant contact with the guerrillas, but the spokesman said several major search and destroy operations were shaping up.

Mekong Delta

Twenty-five F100 Supersabers made the big strike in two waves at 6:25 p.m. and 7:40 p.m. against a Communist encampment 35 miles southwest of Saigon in the Mekong Delta. The jets came under heavy ground fire, but there were no losses, the spokesman said.

He said they destroyed 30 buildings, damaged 35 and set off a secondary explosion that may have indicated a hit on a fuel or ammunition dump.

U. S. Marine artillerymen opened fire a minute after the allied truce ended. The four-day Viet Cong cease-fire expired seven hours later, but the Communists brushed with South Vietnamese forces in a number of minor skirmishes before then.

DA NANG (AP) — The huge Da Nang airbase came under Viet Cong mortar attack early Tuesday morning, a U. S. military spokesman announced.

The Viet Cong raised a new threat against their U. S. prisoners by demanding the release of three terrorists who were arrested with 265 pounds of explosives Jan. 7 in a plot to bomb a U. S. military billet in Saigon.

A Hanoi broadcast said the United States and South Viet Nam would "have to bear full responsibility" if they imprisoned, tortured or executed these "patriots."

The Communists issued such warnings before their reported execution of three American prisoners last year in reprisal for executions by the South Vietnamese. The Viet Cong statement implied that a similar fate might befall the 22 Americans last reported held by them.

It said that "up to now" they had treated their captives humanely but added: "Blood debt must be paid in blood. The U. S. aggressors and their flunkies will be punished for their illegal and murderous acts."

The 7th Fleet reported the disappearance of a twin-engine Grumman antisubmarine patrol plane on a mission over the Gulf of Tonkin 102 miles southeast of the North Vietnamese port of Haiphong. Searchers found no trace of the plane or its three crew members.

Normal Operations

As the orders to resume "normal operations" went into effect Sunday night, four U.S. Air Force twin-jet B57s struck out from Da Nang and bombed a cluster of suspected Viet Cong positions about 40 miles to the south.

Two flights of B52 Stratofor-

Return to Red Cliff

VISTA Girls Treated To Welcome Dinner

RED CLIFF (AP) — Indians feasted on macaroni, sandwiches and potato salad Sunday night in a tribal celebration for the return of two domestic peace corps coeds cast off this cold and remote reservation a month ago.

The small, frame tribal hall, padlocked in December to keep the pair out, was jammed as the Red Cliff Indians welcomed back Judy Rothman, 20, University City, Mo., ad Jill Hunt, 22, Kewanee, Ill.

The two sociology students arrived Saturday after being reassigned here by officials of Volunteers in Service to America (VISTA). The tribal council had voted 5-2 Jan. 3 to invite them back.

Potluck Supper

Many of the 300 tribal members greeted the coeds at the potluck supper in their honor Sunday night. Judy won an apron in a bingo game afterwards.

"We're really happy to be back," she said, "and everybody has been happy to see us. It's all been very favorable."

Judy and Jill originally arrived here on the snow-clad shores of Lake Superior near Bayfield in October. They were ordered out by the tribe two months later on charges of refusing to cooperate with local programs and disrupting the community. The charges were rejected at the January meeting.

Subzero temperatures Sunday failed to affect the turnout at the supper and "everyone brought their specialty, macaroni, casseroles, salads, and everything," Judy said.

Youth Club

The two VISTA workers met in the afternoon with the youth club, whose members had been among their strongest supporters, and took steps toward setting up a tutoring program for elementary school pupils. More meetings were planned tonight and Wednesday.

"It's been just fantastic," said Judy.

Tribal chairman Henry Daley, a 44-year-old factory worker, met with the VISTA volunteers Saturday to discuss expansion of programs on the reservation. Alex Roye, a former tribal chairman, gave a welcoming speech for them Sunday night.

The students expressed hope that the publicity that had accompanied the tribal dispute over the new federal program would end now and said, "For the sake of the people on the reservation, let's let it die."

First of Season

Eastern United States Recovers From Storm

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The populous eastern seaboard's first big storm of the winter rolled out to sea today, leaving mounds of snow, slush and misery. At least 12 persons were dead of heart attacks, attributed to shoveling snow or pushing stalled cars.

The snow and freezing rain, whipped by gale-force winds, battered sections from Arkansas to New England Saturday night and Sunday, downing power lines, flooding coastal areas and icing highways.

The storm center had moved into the Atlantic south of Nova Scotia today leaving cleared skies. But overnight temperatures plummeted to subfreezing levels, and many areas seemed destined to have snowdrift and sludge around for awhile.

Holds Up Traffic

The storm hampered plane and bus transportation. Railroad trains got through.

New York City declared a snow emergency to help clear its 6,000 miles of streets.

The Buffalo, N.Y., suburb of Lancaster reported a two-foot snowfall. In Buffalo, where 17.6 inches of snow fell in 24 hours, the airport was closed and a public and parochial school holiday was declared today.

In New York's Lower Bay, the British tanker Chelwood Beacon battled 40 to 45 knot winds and 25-foot seas as the vessel went aground a half-mile east of Sandy Hook, N.J.

The wind and sea abated early today, and 12 crewmen and a harbor pilot remained aboard the craft, which was declared out of immediate danger. Thirty-nine crewmen were taken off the 665-foot vessel.

High tides, up to six feet above normal, swept into low-lying coastal areas.

Apartment Dwellers Listen to Snoring Dog Each Night

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Not very long ago you printed a letter from a woman whose husband snored so loud it made a nervous wreck out of her. My husband and I have far more serious problems.

We have lived in this same apartment for five years and we love it here. Four months ago a woman moved in next door with a 90-pound Boxer. (I don't mean a pugilist, I mean a dog.) Well, the dog snores. At first we thought it was the woman who was snoring but several weeks ago she went on a vacation and her sister stayed in the apartment with the dog. When that horrible snoring continued we figured it had to be the dog because no two people could have identical snores. My wife finally asked the sister and she verified the fact that it was indeed the dog.

Is there a solution — short of moving, which we don't want to do?—Irate Irene

Dear Irene: First: invest in soundproofing. The cost is minimal compared with what a night's sleep is worth. Second: ask your neighbor if she will bed the dog down in another room — as far from your bedroom as possible. And goodnight Irene.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Why do you print a lot of rubbish by teen-agers and ignore important adult problems? Teen-agers have guidance counselors at school. I don't have anyone to talk to.

For the past several weeks I've been getting up about 4 a.m. I am not awakened by a noise or anything like that. I just get up feeling something is wrong. I look at my husband's bed and he is gone. He usually comes ambling in about 7 a.m. with the same story. He says he couldn't sleep so he went to the bowling alley to drink coffee.

What does this sound like to you?—VA. L.L.

Dear Va. L.L: It sounds like your husband is awfully fond of the coffee they serve at the bowling alley. Tell him you'd like to try some of that coffee and that the next time he goes over for a cup to wake you up and take you along.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My sister and her husband and family were living with mother when she died. Mother's will said the house should be sold and the money divided equally among her four children. We thought my sister would move within a few months but she kept making excuses — "Can't find anything we can afford — hate to break up the children's school year, etc."

It seems to me that living rent-free for five years in a home that belongs partly to others is overdoing it.

My husband and I know of a house that will be put up for sale very soon and we want to buy it. If we had the money coming to us from the sale of mom's house we could make a down payment.

Mom would turn over in her grave if she knew what was going on. What should be done?—P.P.R.

Dear P.P.R.: The lawyer who handled the estate should see to it that your mother's wishes are carried out. She stated specifically that the house should be sold and each of her children should share in the proceeds. If she had wanted your sister to have the house she would have left it to her.

The lawyer should give your sister a deadline — like 90 days to vacate.

Men Slim Down to Fashion

ROME (AP) — Slim waistlines for men is the word today from Italian designers of men's wear, the first to have courage to try something new.

Shared Billing

The continental look launched here years ago was deserted for wider trouser legs, wider lapels and jackets that fit to manly chests and then flare out a bit.

As with women's fashions, color was important. So were combinations of black and white. Pale blue shirts were favored with maroon ties, shadow plaid jackets and off-color cuff collars, flap pockets and a lateral breast pocket.

Three button jackets shared equal billing with double breasted ones. Jacket vents were nonexistent or limited to the side seams.

To keep up with the ladies and their at-home fashions, designer Franzoni created midnight overalls.

One, made for long-legged lads, had an at-home doublet with a Napoleonic collar over the slacks. Most of them were one piece affairs with military slacks.

The color combinations included blue jacket with red flaps and buttons; blue, green and white plaid jackets over a very pale blue.

Cream colored as well as ice white dinner jackets were dressed up with black satin lapels and piping. One version had no lapels.

ROME (AP) — A whole kit and caboodle of models with cat-like eyes drawn on them slithered into the show room today showing off the feline-like collection of Titti Brugnoli.

Women should be as sinuous and as graceful as the family cat, believes designer Brugnoli.

Thus her kittens undulated through the show room in long torsoed dresses with flashes of pleats; neat, shapely suits with jackets longer in back than in front; coats of nine-tenths length over dresses of the same fabrics, and slim fitting, horizontally striped sheath dinner gowns that fitted like paper on the wall; crepe date dresses with complicated seams which formed geometrical and triangular lines.

This collection was in the light colors normally considered right for spring and summer. Although there were some blues and blacks, there were many whites and beiges as well as spice colors like yellow and orange.

Serene models in platinum wigs and costumes with fine old-fashioned touches showed Mirella di Lazzaro style ideas for the last day of Italian spring and summer fashion collections.

There is something feminine and beautiful about the time-honored fashions which we have overlooked, was De Lazzaro's message. Turning her back on the so-called hard chic with its high hems, welt seaming and architectural construction, the Italian lady chose instead to show:

—Fitted coats and suits that follow the body line with hemlines modestly at the knees.

—Decorative touches such as metal flowers sewn to the sleeves.

—Ruffles at the edges of drawstring blouses that peeked from the bottoms of jackets and sleeves.

—Braid trim often in red, white and blue stripes on princess line coats.

—Lacy crocheted coats in diamond and chevron patterns worn over sheaths of darker colors.

—Yellow ribbons woven through lacy dresses forming horizontal and criss-cross bands.

—Scalloped lace panels flying behind beige fitted sheaths.

Jewels to Outshine Audience

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

ROME (AP) — The age of enlightenment in Fashion has nothing to do with intellectuality, but everything to do with the candlepower of the jewel-encrusted woman on her way to outshine every other female at the party.

Jewel is a word used loosely in fashion to define all sorts of glittering rocks, bits of plastic, flashes of sparkling metal, simulated pearls, rhinestones, semi-precious stones, and an occasional gem from Cartier's.

There seems to be a running contest among Italians to see who can find the most novel method of blinding the fashion audiences.

Thus far the title goes to Titta Rossi, a comparative newcomer among the Roman stylists.

Nearly everybody has thought of stitching a jewel to every possible spot of a dress.

Sparkle Is 'In'

Rossi also added the sparkling handiwork to the linings of the companion coasts. She made a vest of twinklers, too. The subtlest touch of jewel interest, however, was the dazzling pink glass embroidery that bound the buttonhole tabs of an otherwise undecorated white silk coat.

Since necklaces worn with dresses like these would have gone unnoticed, Rossi's pretty, long-necked misses dangled chandelier-like crystals down to their shoulders.

Big earrings are very big this year — bigger than ears sometimes.

Eleanora Ornett had her models screw jewelry on their ears, too, but this blonde designer from Rome via New York limited their jewelry to earrings.

Gold was the only glitter Clara Centinaro was interested in at her collection opening. The tall buckles and the many buttons of her double-breasted suits were gold.

Designer Centinaro's concession to the geometric craze was a richly embroidered zigzag pattern in twinkling beads on a long tunic worn over pleated chiffon party pajama pants.

Diamonds, real ones, pinned judiciously to the bosom or tucked into the hair, were the best temporary friends of the girls who modeled for Gattioni and Faraoni on Friday's fashion program. Gattinoni also scattered pink candy-like crystals across the yoke of a handsome pink crepe cocktail dress.

Jeweled shoes, jeweled slave bracelets, jeweled arm bands, and jeweled silk stockings are accessories on the new scene. Rossi, who loves all these jewels, also created a jeweled green serpent which wound round and round the model's neck.

The United States is still one step ahead of the Italians on the jewelry race. Thus far Italy still does not have a jeweled belly button pin.

New Patterns in Sheets Featured

When you shop for White Sale bargains this month, look for new high-fashion styles in printed cotton sheets.

One major bedding manufacturer is promoting six new printed sheet patterns during January White Sales.

The new prints are pretty enough to sew into dresses or to use as decorator fabrics. They include a colorful paisley design borrowed from the world of women's fashions; a delicate wedding lace pattern; and a bold geometric print with an op art look.

The Ailing House

Adhesive Will Flatten Linoleum

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: After three or four years, our kitchen linoleum has begun to loosen at one of the beams. It is still in perfect condition, as I am very careful to wash and mop it. Can you tell me why it is acting this way and what I can do about it?

A: It sounds to me as though all your diligent sashing may have soaked down through a seam and loosened some of the linoleum paste. Just spread the underside of the loosened area with more adhesive, using a fairly long, narrow blade. Do the floor too Then press the linoleum down, keeping it weighted until the adhesive sets Wipe up any which may ooze up between the beams It is very difficult to remove once it hardens

Q: Apparently the hot and cold water pipes in our new house are too close together. At least, this is the only reason I can give for our cold water being so warm It has to run quite a while before it gets cold. What can I do about this?

A: Your reasoning sounds plausible indeed If true, you can easily fix this situation by wrapping the hot water pipes with insulating tape This will keep the heat in the pipe where it belongs, you won't be wasting fuel to keep the water heated. This tape is available in any hardware store

Q: In one corner of our living room there are about five cracks One above the other, they extend across just this one corner; nowhere else Why should this be localized, and what is the reason?

A: The trouble is that the lath in this corner is no good Either it was too small originally or it has since come loose from its moorings All you can do is chop out the plaster, from floor to ceiling, at least six inches from the corner. Remove any and all carpets and upholstery, which could be filled with plaster dust Or at least cover them thoroughly. Keep spraying the wall area, to minimize the dust Refasten the corner lath to the framing, or replace if necessary Then replaster.

Actress Adds To 'Save Grand' Evening

OSHKOSH — Celeste Holm, Broadway stage and movie star, added professional grace and dynamics to the Saturday evening "Save the Grand" festivities at the Pioneer Hotel-Marina.

In pre-dinner conversation Miss Holm expressed interest and concern with the project's goal—restoration and renovation of the old Grand Opera House which when opened in the late 1800s, was acclaimed for its perfect acoustics. The dignity of the stage and the physical structure of the theater itself is worth saving, the original "Oklahoma" stage star said. She had toured the old theater and grounds after her late Saturday afternoon arrival via North Central airlines.

The personality of the vivacious blonde, dressed in a floor-length cherry red gown, sparkled as she spoke of this season on Broadway. "It hasn't been good," she said, and that "is common knowledge"

Project chairman Dr. Paul Whyte, Mr. and Mrs. James Alderson, and James Gerrits, dinner chairman, among others visited with Miss Holm in her suite before the cocktail party and 8 p.m. $50 a-plate dinner. Miss Holm, who spoke frankly about her many theater performances, said her "most exciting" role is whichever one she is currently working on "I don't look back," she commented Miss Holm continued with some of her theatrical philosophy by saying that she doesn't think one part can make or break a performance, but rather that the whole play is either good or bad.

Sharp Wit

Miss Holm displayed an abrupt, yet not ungracious manner of answering eager questions put to her Her personality was as sharp as her wit and it obviously reflected her successful years in the theater

The restored Grand will be a "Living Memorial to the Arts." it was recently designated by the State Historical Society as a registered Wisconsin landmark. Miss Holm's interest in its restoration lies in her belief that an audience should be able to hear a stage performance, which she insists, is rarely true in many theaters constructed today.

The way to find out is to ask — either the bride's mother, or the bridal consultant at a store where the bride has registered her preferences, or the bride herself The gift of sterling is the one most brides want more than anything, so there's no reason not to give it

Expert Has Occasional Advantage

In most bridge hands the good player will get the same result as the expert. Just a few times per evening the expert will do something that gives him a slight advantage, and this is enough to make the expert a steady winner.

South won the first trick with the queen of spades and tried the diamond finesse. East won with the king of diamonds and returned a spade to the ace.

Opening lead — ♠ 6

South ran the diamonds, cashed the top hearts and then tried the club finesse. West won with the king of clubs and defeated the contract with the rest of the spades.

South was a good player. He would have made the contract if either finesse had worked or if the queen-jack of hearts had dropped. Still, South was not an expert because an expert would have made the contract.

Correct Order

An expert takes the two finesses in the correct order. After winning the first trick, South leads a heart to dummy's king to try the club finesse before touching the diamonds.

West wins and returns a spade to the ace. South takes the rest of the clubs and then tries the diamond finesse. East wins with the king of diamonds, and now we see what makes South an expert: East cannot return a spade.

This is South's reason for taking the two finesse in the correct order. If South loses both finesses he will still make his contract if East started with only two spades.

It may look dangerous to weaken the hearts by using up dummy's king, but there is no danger unless both finesses fail — in which case the spade threat is worse than anything that can happen in hearts.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 1 NT (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes. You hold: S K J 7 6 3 2 H 8 3 2 D 5 2 C K 6. What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid four spades. You may be a point or two shy of the 26 usually needed for game, but the length of your suit should give you a good play for ten tricks.

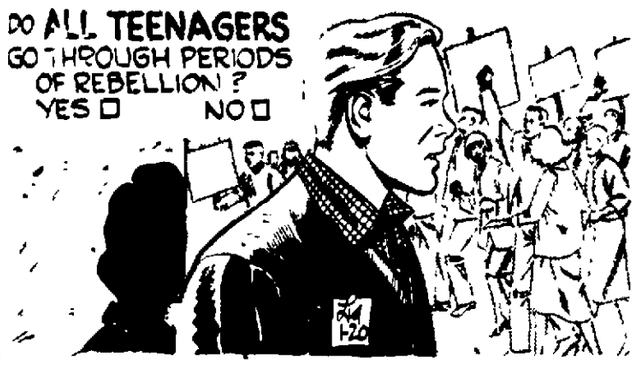
Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Duvall, Ph.D.



No Anthropologist report that in many cultures there is rarely any such stage of rebellion as we find in our culture. Teenage rebellion is common with us because parents fail to wean their sons and daughters emotionally as children. The complexities of our industrial culture prolong childhood unduly so that it's harder for our young people to be as fully accepted as adults as they are in more primitive societies. You can help your teenager by your willingness to accept him, by respecting him as a person, and by letting him grow up.

Can your job become your "way of life"?

Yes—— No——

Yes, for those who have creative jobs — executives, engineers, scientists, artists, and some teachers and clergy — it is. They are what Prof. L.E. Danielson calls "job oriented." As a result, they usually want to do a good job, and promotion and advancement become important to them. They also are far more critical of management, partly because of what they regard as undue interference with their work, and partly because they sometimes feel that the ideas of management are obsolete and out of date.

RATE YOUR EMOTIONAL MATURITY. Send for "How to Be an Emotional Grownup," and see for yourself why some people never "grow up." Find your own weaknesses and some expert pointers toward recognizing your own shortcomings. The booklet is 20 cents. To Your Good Health

Senility Not Automatic With Growing Old

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Will you send me the names of some good books on senility? I am nearly 81 and still working and in pretty good health. However I note that some relatives show signs of the senility of which you write. The prospect of coming mental deterioration is not pleasant and I wonder what I can do to keep my wits to the end.—V.N.D.

Dr. Molner

Senility—in the sense of mental deterioration as age advancese—isn't everybody's lot. Judging from your letter, I would say that you have no sign of it, and if you are still working at goin' on 81, you've taken mighty good care of yourself.

Some people begin to go to pieces mentally in their 50's or even earlier. Others keep their wits about them until they are 100 or more.

Why? The possible factors are being studied constantly. The condition of the arteries, particularly those in the brain, or arteries which feed blood to the brain, obviously is important. All sorts of other conditions may have an effect. Emphysema or other respiratory ailments which curtail adequate oxygen: kidney or liver disease or failure, chemical changes, probably in the enzymes of the body, causing weakness of vital organs. Different causes and different cominations of causes exist.

Syphilis certainly can cause serious deterioration of the brain if it is not treated early. This accounts for a substantial number of inmates of mental hospitals, in spite of all the warnings of the need for immediate treatment to prevent disaster later on.

It doesn't seem likely that any of the foregoing destroyers of our wits have anything to do with you, sir. Nor another one which we can do something about. Too many older folks deteriorate for lack of activity and positive thinking. They "sit around and listen to their arteries harden." Our wits, like any other part of us, have to be active to stay in good condition.

Other people invite such deterioration by drinking themselves to a premature end from liver disease, along with the other gradual consequences of too much alcohol. Some people let themselves get too fat; others reduce and extend their lives as well as their span of useful activity.

Avoiding senility isn't something that we accomplish after we are old; we do it by maintaining our health all our lives, and remaining active—but not trying to do more than our physical resources will allow. A person with a damaged or weakened heart often adds many years of useful life by being careful not to exeed the amount of activity his heart can support.

No, my friend, I don't think you need any books on how to avoid senility. It appears to me that you must have spent a lifetime doing a good job of that. Just remain interested in life, in your job, in the people and the world around you. I hope I'll hear from you in the future, say every five or 10 years, telling me how you are.

By the way, have you heard about this slogan that someone noticed in a home for old folks? It says:

"Don't begrudge old age. Many are denied it."

Dear Dr. Molner: Are widowers more likely to have prostate trouble than married men? That is, does lack of sexual activity tend to cause the trouble?—Worried

It depends on what you mean by trouble. Lack of sexual activity can at times lead to congestion and discomfort. However such activity does not prevent enlargement of the prostate gland, or cancer. Therefore the answer to both your questions is no.

Note to J.M., age 13: No, tampons have no effect on regularity on menstrual periods, but it is quite common for periods to be irregular at first until you settle into a regular cycle.

Parents' World

Son Needs Father's Affection But Can't Seem to Reach Him

BY DR. EVE JONES

Dear Dr. Jones: What can be the meaning of the following performance. My 10-year-old son will grab my husband's hand, and will say in a teasing and joking manner, "When are we going to get married Daddy Dear?"

While this is going on, his father is pushing him away.

maybe smiling, but more often scowling and annoyed. At this point, I become upset and threaten both if they don't stop.

My theory is that our son is trying to reach his father, trying to get attention and affection that he needs so much for security and acceptance. They have no companionship of any kind, and most of their contact consists of barking at each other. Mrs. F. O.

Your theory is probably correct. Why not tell them about it? Ask them how all three of you can learn to be close and genuinely loving, rather than teasing and threatening. It will help if your husband explains his reasons for not giving your son more companionship. If this is something beyond control, telling your son that and letting him know that it's cause for unhappiness may help your son accept a tough situation without so much resentment.

Dear Dr. Jones: Our son was a very high strung and nervous baby and would scream from 10 p.m. until 6 a.m. unless we took him into our bed. I know that was a mistake, but my husband needed his sleep and so did the three boarders who lived with us.

We stopped this habit of letting my son sleep with us for a while after he was about a year old, but it started again last month, just when he was two years old and we took his bottle away from him. He's in bed with us every night and he won't take a nap unless someone lies down with him, even when we give him a sedative from the doctor. MRS. M. C.

Explain to your boarders that you're trying to stop your son's all-night tantrums, and ask them to forgive you for any inconvenience they may cause in the next few days. Then follow this routine: give your son his medication, then at bedtime put him to bed in his own bed and tell him you'll sit near him or hold him on your lap near his bed until he falls asleep if he likes, but that you will not let him get into your bed anymore. If he cries, remind him that you're near and you won't let anything or anyone hurt anybody.

Unless other pressures you haven't mentioned are making him tense, he'll stop objecting to this sensible routine in two or three nights. So be firm and wait it out. Extra snuggling during the daytime can make it easier for both of you.

State, Federal Funds Also Down, Director's Annual Report Shows

CHILTON — Costs of the 1965 public welfare service showed a drop of $12,988 under those of 1964, according to the annual report of the Calumet County Department of Public Welfare made by director Florence Woelfel.

Total expenditures for the past year were $210,896, compared with $223,884 in 1964.

State and federal reimbursements in 1965 amounted to $161,198, about $12,000 less than the preceding year.

This left a cost to the county of $47,786 in 1965, about $3,000 less than was expended by the county in 1964.

Of the total welfare costs, all but $33,893 for administrative expenses, went to finance the aid and service programs for the county.

The four social security aid programs — blind aid, aid to dependent children, old age assistance and aid to totally and permanently disabled persons — are the county, state and federal-financed assistance programs.

Aid to Blind

Social services to dependent children include counseling on child care, home management, personal and family problems, reconciling separated families, obtaining support from deserting fathers, planning for medical care finding living quarters and work training.

Smallest in case loads and costs is the blind aid program with only two persons qualifying last year. However, costs of the program increased slightly over 1964.

Payments to recipients totaled $1,068 and medical care reached $519. Since the county received $1,489 in state and federal reimbursement, this left a net cost to the county of $97.33.

Payments to dependent children decreased by nearly $12,000, due to a decreased case load.

Last year 26 families received aid compared with 39 in 1964. Of this total, aid was given to 72 children, 23 mothers and two incapacitated fathers.

Reasons for dependency were death of fathers in four families with a total of 13 children; inprisonment of father in one family with two children; abandonment of parent in 10 families with 27 children; divorce of parents in five families affecting 14 children; incapacitation of father in three families with 11 children, and unmarried mothers in three families affecting five children. A total of five children was cared for in 19 foster homes last year.

During the year 15 new applications were received, and six were granted. Six were denied or withdrawn because of ineligibility while three applications are pending. Eight new applications for aid to dependent children in foster homes were received and granted.

Cases Closed

Sixteen cases were closed during the year.

Aid to three dependent children in foster homes was discontinued.

At the year's end the active caseload stood at 11 families including 27 children, nine mothers and one incapacitated father. Tweity-two children ere being cared for in foster homes.

Costs for the year included $23,025, payments to recipients: $8,444, payments to foster homes and $4,902 in payments for medical care to recipients with $626 being paid for medical care to foster children.

Of the $36,999 total expenditure, $32,122 was received in state and federal funds leaving a cost to the county of $4,877.

Old Age Assistance

Old age assistance is the largest program in caseload and costs. Although the caseload is decreasing, costs of medical services are increasing.

Last year 108 persons received old age assistance. Twenty-five new applications were received, of which 20 were granted while one was withdrawn because of ineligibility. Four applications are pending. The active caseload at the end of 1965 was 78 cases.

Thirty cases were closed.

A breakdown of costs shows $27,975 in payments to recipients, $84,445 in medical expenses and $1,075 for funerals.

Total costs reached $113,495 a decrease of about $5,000 over those of 1964. Of the total cost, state and federal funds paid $89,736 leaving a net cost to the county of $21,847. The county's share of estate collections was $1,912 of the $9,561 taken in. Two estates are pending in probate court in which an old age assistance claim is filed.

Totally Disabled

The aid to the totally disabled increased slightly last year.

Aid was granted to 24 persons. Twelve new applications were received, of which six were granted aid and one was denied because of ineligibility. Five applications are pending.

Eight cases were closed.

Of the total of $23,116 in costs, $5,995 were payments to recipients and $17,121 for medical expenses. State and federal funds covered $16,165 leaving county cost at $6,950. This compares with a net cost of $5,369 in 1964.

Child Welfare

Department responsibilities in the areas of child welfare and juvenile court service include services to deprived children, pre-hearing studies for children referred to juvenile court, study and licensing of foster homes, protecting the interests of illegitimate children; assisting parents of physically or mentally handicapped children and adoption studies for the court.

Of the 166 children under care last year, 74 cases were the result of neglect with all being supervised in the parents homes. 29 delinquents with 12 supervised on court order from prior years and 17 studies made for juvenile court in 19565; 11 behavior problems, 21 with legal custody transferred to the department; six under care in foster homes with placement agreement from the parents; five born out of wedlock; seven mentally or physically handicapped; 10 granted financial service only, three adoption studies and two other studies for the court.

Payments totaled $1,805 which includes $1,491 for care in private institutions, $270 for medical care and $43 for foster care.

At year's end, 15 foster home permits are in effect.

Family Counseling

In addition to administration of social security aids, the department provided family counseling service to 13 families and individuals. It also investigated 44 applications for student loans and conducted eight studies on legal settlement of institution patients. Nine investigations were conducted on state dependents cases referred to the county. A total of 31 reports were prepared on applicants for the Calumet County Homestead.

A total of 112 persons have been certified as eligible for payments since the program went into effect. At the end of 1965 there were 66 active certifications. Some changes are anticipated in this program as well as the medical care aspects of the old age assistance program when the Medicare program goes into effect. However, the extent of the department's involvement in the Medicare program is not yet known.

Support funds received and expended by the department include payments made by parents for the care and support of children and payments received for the support of dependent adults.

Fourteen support accounts and nine trust accounts were active during the year.

Support Payments

Total funds for support payments were $8,693 while funds for paternity adjudication amounted to $3,302. The year ended with a balance on hand of $822.

An additional part-time caseworker was added during the year as well as a part-time typist.

Administrative costs for the year totaled $33,893, of which $26,361 went for salaries and per diem expenses of board members, $2,967 for travel expenses; $2,540 for employe benefit plans; $1,090 for supplies and communications; $902 for equipment and $31 for miscellaneous expenses. Of this total, $21,685 was handled by state and federal reimbursement leaving a net county cost of $12,208, a slight increase over the $11,570 cost in 1964.

A Municipal Labor relations milestone was reached this week when the city and Teamsters Local 563 executed their first signed agreement. On hand for the 1966 contract signing were, from left: Elden Broehm, city clerk; Mayor Clarence Mitchell; Max Hensel, personnel committee chairman; Marvin DeVries, Local 563; Robert Schlieve, signing for the Teamsters; and Ald. John MacDonald (7th), committee vice chairman. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Menasha Residents Petition To Protest Vote for Tenure

MENASHA — A group of citizens is circulating a petition in protest to the method used by the common council when it put the city attorney and treasurer on an appointive tenure basis.

The council waived normal procedure Jan. 4 by bypassing a public hearing and prior publication on the charter ordinance. The vote on both the waiving of procedure and the ordinance itself was a unanimous 11 to 0.

The first open public reaction was a dissent voiced at the Jan. 17 committee of the whole meeting when Cliff Lee, an account executive for WNAM, appeared as a private citizen to object to the speeded-up procedure employed by the council.

Key Figure

At that meeting Lee said the council's action was "a good example of getting something pushed down our throats."

Lee is now the key figure in circulating the petition of protest.

The petition asks the council "to take the steps necessary to rescind the ordinance" and return the two offices to an elective basis.

Prior to the passage of the new ordinance the attorney's position was filled on a one year basis through election by the council. The treasurer was elected by the voters every two years.

In passing the ordinance, the aldermen stated their confidence in the two present office holders, City Attorney Richard Steffens, who has held his job for six years, and Treasurer Wilbert Edwards, who has been elected by large margins three times. The ordinance applies to only, not to the offices.

Kohler Menasha Mayor Candidate

MENASHA — With only one day left for filing nomination papers, Earl Kohler, chief mechanic at the city garage, announced his third bid for the mayor's position.

Kohler is the fourth candidate for mayor, meaning two will have to be eliminated in the March 8 primary election.

The other three candidates, Mayor John Klein, Fourth Ward Ald. Richard Heindl and Kenneth Holmes, chief clerk of the Menasha Soo Line traffic department, have filed their completed papers.

Maryland Gives Aid After Brazil Floods

NITEROI, Brazil (AP) — The Maryland friends of the Alliance for Progress have donated 15,000 doses of antibiotics to the flood-battered sister state of Rio de Janeiro.

The rapid donation to this state was explained by authorities as due to constant contacts between amateur radio operators in Annapolis, Md., and Petropolis, Rio de Janeiro State.

Budget Brings Market Rally

Aerospace Issues, Electronics, Steels Among Top Gainers

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market rallied as President Johnson's record budget was sent to Congress today. Trading was heavy early this afternoon.

Aerospace issues took a new lease on life. Electronics, some office equipment and photographic issues, airlines, motors and steels were among the gainers.

The advance was not very broad. Oils, tobaccos and a number of nonferrous metals showed scarcely any change. Utilities were mixed. Rails edged higher on balance.

Weakness appeared in some sections of the list. At the same time there was considerable activity in lower-priced issues.

AP Average

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .3 at 357.3 with industrials up .5, rails up 1 and utilities up .1.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 4.67 at 992.81.

Zenith and IBM gained 2 each but Control Data was subjected to heavy selling pressure due to its drop in earnings. The stock opened late on a block of 22,500 shares and showed a 2-point loss as the session wore on.

Xerox lost about 1½ despite its big gain in profits.

Prices advanced in heavy trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Movie Star Hospitalized in Oshkosh

OSHKOSH — "I'm here to stay," movie star Miss Celeste Holm told hospital authorities as tears stained her cheeks.

The Broadway and screen idol is in a private room today at Mercy Hospital under treatment for a painful pinched nerve in her neck.

Report of the injury has thrown the movie star's itinerary into a furor and has forced cancellation for the second time of a tour of Bergstrom Paper Co., Neenah.

Dr. Paul Whyte, a member of the "Save the Grand" committee, a group attempting to gain $65,000 in funds to refurbish a famous theater here, said Miss Holm's schedule for the remainder of the week is a series of big ...s.

Miss Holm was hospitalized for the day early Sunday. She returned to her room in the Pioneer Hotel that evening but was back at the hospital again this morning.

She had come to Oshkosh for a special "Save the Grand" promotion dinner and dance Saturday evening and a tour of the famous theater.

Sharp Pain

Miss Holm awakened at 3 a.m. Sunday with what she described as a sharp pain in her back. Later in the morning she was taken to Mercy Hospital for treatment, x-ray and therapy. Members of her staff said she had suffered a pinched nerve at one time and the pain was a recurrence.

She reportedly spent a sleepless night Sunday and returned to the hospital today for therapy.

Miss Holm had reportedly ... members of the Save the Grand Committee Saturday that she would like to tour a paper ... in the area.

The information was passed on to Frank Moore, attorney for Bergstrom, who arranged a tour for 1:15 p.m. Sunday.

That tour was cancelled and rescheduled for this noon. The second tour was cancelled after Miss Holm complained of pain during therapy today.

Dr. Whyte said Miss Holm was crying because of her inability to walk into the hospital. She was transferred to a wheel chair and taken to her room.

Dr. Whyte said Miss Holm made members of her party feel inadequate because of her concern for them even though she was in pain.

The movie star is thoughtful of others with little care for herself, Dr. Whyte said.

He estimated Miss Holm would be in the hospital today. She told hospital authorities she would remain in Oshkosh until she is comfortable.

She was due in Chicago Wednesday for a TV interview and in Dallas, Tex., Thursday for a benefit program. These may have to be cancelled.

Outagamie Asked to Join Planning Unit

10 years ago and its member municipalities are from Outagamie, Calumet and Winnebago counties.

Asked if the commission has received further information regarding a request to reorganize in order to become eligible for federal 701 planning funds, Franchett said he was still waiting for clarification from Washington.

Later today, Franchett received a copy of a letter Sen. Gaylord Nelson sent to Robert C. Weaver, secretary of the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), requesting clarification on the matter.

Seek Nelson's Help

The planning commission had asked Nelson to aid the commission in seeking clarification of its legal status.

Last month the Chicago regional office of HUD advised the commission to reorganize under the Wisconsin regional planning law in order to become eligible for the 701 funds.

Army Team Visits Appleton In Effort to Recruit Nurses

Because of increased fighting in Viet Nam, the military service finds itself short of registered nurses. In an effort to recruit women to this profession, an Army nurse volunteer team will be in Appleton today through Friday at the Appleton State Bank Plaza.

Under a new program, registered nurses select their assignment in the United States, Germany, France, Italy, Japan, Hawaii, Alaska and, if qualified, Viet Nam.

Starting salary ranges from $6,000 to $9,000. Financial assistance toward degree study is available as well as choice of clinical specialty training and annual 30 day vacation. Applicants volunteer for two years.

The Army is also offering money grants to student nurses to encourage students to enroll in nursing. In this way, worthy but financially insecure students will have a better chance of becoming nurses.

More information may be obtained at the Army recruiting station, 117 S. Superior St.

cept this report as the truth, hoping we can be helped by admitting it." But he said his people had heard the promises of many outside groups over the years, "only to see their interest wane."

'Green Bay is Problem'

Noting the accuracy of Oneida housing and living standards detailed in the report, Archiquette commented "We're discussing what is wrong with Oneida. There is nothing wrong with Oneida. It is Green Bay that is the problem."

If you can help us find the key—or the iron wedge—to open the doors of employment in Green Bay, we will not need industry in Oneida," he said. "Oneidas are employed as construction workers or laborers in Green Bay, but those with enough education are not hired for white collar jobs."

He contrasted what he called discrimination to Milwaukee "where you are hired if you can do the work, whether you are white, brown or blue."

"Every time I see somebody stopped by the road," he quipped, "it's an Indian pumping up a tire. We're not going to buy better tires or fix the houses until we can get the jobs."

Donald Huntley of the local WSES said the employment service was not aware of specific acts of hiring discrimination. "If you will report these incidents to us, we can do something legally or, better yet, approach the industries about changing policies."

Students to Tutor

The group heard about a new St. Norbert College student experiment starting this week under the direction of sophomore Kathleen Lyons and 100 volunteers who will join her in tutoring underprivileged children.

Miss Lyons said her group wanted to go to Seymour and Oneida, but is starting at West De Pere High School because they lack transportation to the outlying area. They will tutor youngsters in academic subjects or help them with problems of a more social nature.

She agreed with the league report that delayed bus transportation after school would help rural Indian children participate in metropolitan high school activities. This request will be the first project of the rights commission's newly appointed conciliation committee.

The committee will work to improve opportunities for minorities. Improve opportunities for minorities are required.

Arthur Kaftan, Elmer Sevcik and Rev. Donald Brown were named to the committee.

Attorney Seeks Post of Justice

KAUKAUNA — A three-way race developed for the office of municipal justice, to be filled in the April election, when Clarence O'Connor, 223 Taylor St., began circulating nomination papers.

O'Connor is a partner in the law firm of McFadden and O'Connor and formerly served as First Ward Alderman. He is married and the father of five children.

A two-way race for city treasurer to be vacated by Miss Ruth Wolf, appeared likely as Mrs. Evelyn Gerrits, 404 E. Fifteenth St., began circulating papers. She is a housewife, mother of one son and her husband is employed at the Thilmany Pulp and Paper Co. Mrs. Elaine Brown, 813 Blackwell St., earlier took out papers for treasurer.

Clayton McCabe, 4 Armstrong Court, took out papers for the post of First ward alderman. An employe of the Thilmany Pulp and Paper Company, he is married and the father of three children. He ran for the same office unsuccessfully on one other occasion.

Chamber Lists 1966 Projects At Kaukauna

Membership Letter Includes Promoting Development Firm

KAUKAUNA — Directors of the Chamber of Commerce have announced projects for 1966, including promotion of an industrial development corporation, in a letter accompanying membership statements.

Plans call for the organization to work with city officials in publishing a brochure pointing to the city's present industries and the potential for development of additional industrial concerns in the community.

An effort will be made to put the brochure into the hands of as many potential industrial developers as possible and to follow up all contacts with letters pointing out the many advantages of locating in the area.

The group also plans to work with the Kaukauna Council in promoting an apartment development. Contractors will be contacted in an effort to secure apartment buildings for retired or semi-retired people living on relatively fixed incomes.

Comprehensive Plan

The chamber will make its services available for the comprehensive master planning program approved by the council and will continue efforts to locate the junior-senior University of Wisconsin in the area.

The organization also plans to work with city officials in locating and establishing off-street parking locations. The Chamber is trying to set up a program to welcome newcomers to the city.

An effort also will be made to improve holiday decorations in the business areas. Directors asked for ideas and suggestions for the betterment of the community.

Concert Planned By Junior Bands

KAUKAUNA — Junior high and grade school bands, directed by Elwood Bleick, will present a mid-winter concert at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Civic Auditorium with most of the selections on the light side.

FVL Boosts Victory Streak to 6 Games

Foxes Hand New Ulm '5' 82-35 Loss

BY TIM PETERMANN
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Fox Valley Lutheran High School continued on its winning way here Sunday night as it crushed Dr Martin Luther High School of New Ulm, Minnesota, 82-35 in a non-conference basketball tilt

The Foxes swept their second straight weekend series to increase their winning streak to six The Foxes now own a 9-3 overall mark. The Rams are 6-5 on the season

The Foxes wasted little time in showing which of the teams was the better. After Dave Tiedt opened the scoring for FVL with a turn-around jumper, and Orville Breitkreutz tallied for the Rams from the top of the key with 6:00 showing in the quarter, FVL went to work for 18 straight points and a 20-2 lead The Foxes increased that lead to 28-8 at the end of the quarter.

The opening canto saw the Foxes shooting a torrid 62 per cent Tiedt had 4-for-5 from the floor and Tom Ehlke, 4-for-6.

Holds 40-15 Lead

In the second period, FVL shot below its average from the floor and tallied only 12 markers, but it was good enough to gain five more points on the faltering visitors, who could hit only 12 per cent (2 of 17) in the period and FVL led at halftime, 40-15

In the third period, the starting five came back into the game after Coach Gerry Kaniess had played his reserves for much of the second period and they increased the margin to 61-25 at the end of the quarter.

In the final stanza, the starting contingent for the Foxes saw no action at all, as the second and third string went to work and outscored the Ram starters, 21-10, behind a good 47 per cent from the court

The point total was the highest for the Foxes this year, eclipsing the 81 scored last week against Northwestern and 80 the week before against Racine Lutheran

The extraordinary winning margin could be attributed to several factors Martin Luther was both mentally and physically tired Saturday night, the Rams lost to Onalaska Luthern, 73-71, in a hard-fought game They had played there after traveling 200 miles to get to Analaska, Sunday, they traveled another 20 miles from Onalaska to Appleton The Rams came with only eight players (one of whom was ill last night but

Massengale Staves Off Late Palmer Rally to Win Crosby Open Title

Texan Birdies Last Hole to Clinch Top Prize of $11,000

By JACK STEVENSON

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) —Champagne Tony Lema will get a bubbly recommendation from the winner of the $104,500 Bing Crosby Tournament if he ever dicides to quit the pro golf tour and start teaching the game

Lema, who ran into trouble with his own game in Sunday's final round was in a threesome with Don Massengale of

Don Massengale

Jacksboro, Tex., and when the Texan moved ahead of the pack, Tony supplied the counsel which helped stand off Arnold Palmer's famed charge.

"Tony was extremely helpful as the pressure built up," the 28-year-old Massengale said at the finish. "He helped calm me down, and, a couple of times told me 'you have everything under control...let them chase you'."

So while Lema soared to a 79 and 293, Massengale beat off the Palmer challenge and defeated the all-time money winning champion by one stroke with a 70—283.

Palmer shot a 71 on his final round and the double bogey he took at the first hole of the Pebble Beach course eventually proved his downfall.

Lema collected $1,200 for his effort but hopes to earn more this week playing in the Lucky International Open at San Francisco near his hometown of San Leandro

Massengale and Palmer will be there for the $50,000 ucky Tournament starting Thursday over the Harding Park Municipal course.

Palmer already has won $19,100 in the two tournaments he has played this year — the $11,000 winning purse at Los Angeles, $6,200 for finishing second to Massengale in the Crosby duel and $1,900 for a third place finish in the pro-amateur division of the crooner's silver anniversary clambake. He teamed with his business manager, Mark McCormack.

He added then he would make up his mind about opportunities outside baseball before spring training, but said Sunday night at a sports writers' dinner here, "The way it looks right now I'll be at spring training with the San Francisco ball club."

Other clubs had turned him down, Spahn said.

Allyn Predicts Milwaukee Will Have Big League Team

White Sox Owner Says Baseball Is Subject to Antitrust Laws

By KEN HARTNETT

MILWAUKEE, Wis (AP) — Outspoken Arthur Allyn, rushing in where most baseball owners fear to tread, has jumped into the middle of the legal tangle over the planned shift of the Braves from Milwaukee to Atlanta

Not only is baseball a monopoly subject to U S antitrust laws, the Chicago White Sox owner said Sunday night, it is a monopoly with responsibilities to its patrons, the fans

"It is my conviction it is not right to deprive any city of major league caliber and quality, as Milwaukee is, of the privilege of having baseball," Allyn told the annual dinner of the Milwaukee chapter of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Allyn drew a standing ovation when he predicted flatly, without saying when, that "Milwaukee will have major league baseball"

Touched on Issues

Allyn's comments touched on the issues raised in the antitrust suits brought against the Braves and the National League by Wisconsin and Milwaukee County

The state, in a suit now before a Milwaukee County circuit court, is contending that baseball is a monopoly operating in violation of Wisconsin's antitrust laws A similar suit has been filed in federal court

Both the state and the county are seeking to force baseball to grant Milwaukee a franchise to replace the Braves Failing that, the two governments are seeking an injunction barring the shift to Atlanta

Allyn, the main speaker at the best attended dinner in the chapter's history, told the almost 900 guests that baseball is a business "in a very real sense"

"We have to get business and profits to produce the ball players that please you because of their skills," Allyn said.

"Baseball is subject entirely to the antitrust acts of the United States and always has been And here in Wisconsin baseball is no different than it is in Chicago, Los Angeles, New York or anyplace else Baseball, as it is

Billy Kidd Sprains Ankle, Tour Ended

KITZBUEHEL, Austria (AP) — Billy Kidd, the only American ever to win a silver medal in the men's events at the Winter Olympics, is on his way back to school today following a slight miscalculation that brought a sudden end to his successful European tour

Kidd, a 22-year-old sophomore at the University of Colorado, suffered a sprained right ankle and a pulled ligament Sunday when he fell on the second slalom run of the Hahnenkamm men's ski races

The injuries, though not serious, brought an end to Kidd's tour of Europe after two victories — the slalom events at Hindelang, West Germany, and Adelboden, Switzerland — and several other high placings

It is expected that Kidd, who along with Jimmy Heuga of Tahoe City, Calif., won America's only skiing medals at the Innsbruck, Austria, Olympics, will be ready for the major American races in February and March

Kidd, a third-place finisher in Saturday's downhill, missed a gate on the first slalom run Sunday, then was flashing down on the second run when his left ski caught a pole He was thrown off course, plummeting forward into the snow and twisting his ankle

A's Shift Is Still Possible, Says Allyn

American League Might Reconsider Refusal to Move

MILWAUKEE, Wis (AP) — Arthur Allyn, president of the Chicago White Sox, said there is a possibility that the American League might reconsider its refusal to allow the Athletics to move from Kansas City

"There's always that possibility," Allyn said Sunday night "But if there is a reconsideration it would be based on the facts on hand about the situation It was that way before and it would be again

"It's entirely possible if it should become apparent that Kansas City is not going to support a major league baseball club," Allyn said

Allyn said he did not know the details of owner Charles Finley's contract with Kansas City, but he said he believed the A's might be allowed to move elsewhere after the 1966 season should the team not be supported

The White Sox owner said "the Kansas City situation is worsening There's grave danger there — much more danger than a couple of years ago . . he (Finley) would be justified in moving if conditions become worse than they are."

Cazzie Russell is one of the top stars on the college basketball scene but the Michigan Wolverines are proving it takes a little more than Russell to hold the Big Ten lead

The Wolverines took on Minnesota Saturday and came off with a 97-85 victory to take sole possession of the conference lead as Michigan State stumbled at Iowa, 90-76.

Coach Dave Strack gave his Wolverines a game plan and they followed it right to the boards to turn back the Minnesota threat

"We felt we had to hit them at their strong point — rebounding — if we were to win," Strack said

Hit 'em they did Michigan picked off 64 rebounds to 36 for Minnesota with Jim Myers picking off 24 rebounds

Even with a powerful rebounding game, the Wolverines couldn't do without Cazzie. The senior All-America poured in 40 points to help keep the Wolverines undefeated in Big Ten play

Rest Until Saturday

Michigan will rest until Saturday but Michigan State and Iowa will be back in action tonight, attempting to keep alive their championship hopes.

Michigan State, dropping into a second place tie with Illinois—one game beind Michigan, takes on Purdue while Iowa Faces Ohio State Ohio State defeated Northwestern 79-73 Saturday for its first conference success in three games.

Both Michigan State and Iowa will be favored since both are at home So far this season home teams have a 13-5 edge in Big Ten competition

Some non-conference activity is scheduled this week with Hardin-Simmons playing at Wisconsin Thursday and at Ohio State Saturday.

Michigan returns to action at Wisconsin Saturday in a regionally televised matinee and Minnesota plays at Purdue in another afternoon game Michigan State will be at Northwestern in the only game scheduled Saturday night.

Steers Score All Goals in Opening Period of Action

Post Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — The Bobcats, an elementary time study suggests, started Sunday afternoon's game one hour too early.

The Green Bay skaters took to the Brown County Veterans Memorial Arena ice at 2 p.m. and, 20 playing minutes later, unhappily glided to the dressing room at the first intermission under the weight of a bulky 3-0 deficit, inflicted by the accomplished St Paul Steers.

After a brief delay, occasioned when goalie Jim Mattson was suiting up to replace the ailing Bill Rowe, the second period finally was launched at approximately 3 05 and the Bobcats proceeded to outskate — and outscore, though by the slenderest of margins — their guests the rest of the way.

Split in Series

Unfortunately, the rebounding home forces could trip the red light but once during this span and eventually were forced to yield a 3-1 decision, however grudgingly, and content themselves with a split in their United States Hockey League exchange with the Minnesotans.

The Bobcats, who shaded the Steers 5-4 in Saturday night's series inaugural, now own a 6-11 record while third place St. Paul emerged with an 8-6 mark.

Although handicapped by the loss of GM-Player-Coach John Mayasich, shelved by ankle and shoulder injuries acquired in the opener, the Green Bay icemen didn't lack for opportunity, although out-shot 38-24 over the route

It was Colin Clark, bespectacled 21-year-old Fort Frances, Ont., native, who averted a shutout late in the second period when he flipped the puck over the prostrate Rod Blackbourn and into the left corner of the

Strampe Leads In All-Star Pin Tourney

Dick Weber Takes Runnerup Spot, Blasts 299 Game

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Bob Strampe of Detroit continued his pin bombardment and Dick Weber of St. Louis began to make his move as the 25th annual All-Star Bowling Tournament ended its fifth day of competition Sunday.

Strampe continued to lead the men's field of 216 pro bowlers with a 25-game total of 5,623 — a 224 per game average.

It was Weber, however, who provided the fireworks Sunday. Putting together games of 234, 208, 299, 232 and 252 for a 1,266 series, he boosted his total to 5,864 and gained second place.

Weber left the two pin in the last frame of the third game, costing him his 16th official 300 game and his second perfect score in All-Star competition.

His only All-Star 300 game came at Miami Beach, Fla., in 1962. That was the first of three All-Star titles for Weber.

Nancy Rowan, a housewife from Tucson, Ariz., continued her mastery of the maples, adding a 1,059 block to the 1,126 she posted Saturday.

Sunday, Mrs Rowan bowled games of 211, 179, 191, 233 and 236

Jim Grelle Scores Upset Win in Mile

Pennel Sets Indoor Pole Vault Mark

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two nel were distance runners Kipchoge Keino of Kenya and Jim Grelle triple jumper Art Walker and sprinter Charlie Greene all of whom starred in Saturday night s Los Angeles Invitational Meet.

A sellout crowd of 13,419 jammed the Sports Arena for the action Pennel boosted the pole vault record to 16 feet, 9½ inches on his first attempt after easily clearing 16-5, his starting point

The old mark of 16-8¾ was held by Pentti Nikula of Finland Pennel failed in three tries at 17-½.

Grelle veteran 29-year - old miler from Portland, Ore scored the upset of the evening when he came from far behind to defeat Keino in the mile Grelle ran it in 4 00 9 and Keino in 4 01 8.

But the 26-year - old African, playing the Iron Man role, came back later to win the two-mile in 8 42 6, after a spirited battle with John Lawson of Kansas and Gaston Roelants of Belgium Lawson was second in 8 43 0 and Roelants third in 8 47 6

Walker, formerly of Moorehead State in Kentucky and released from the Army last Friday, broke the world triple jump mark with a leap of 53-8½. Michael Sauer of Germany held the record of 53-1¼.

National collegiate champion Greene of Nebraska equaled the world standard of 5.9 in the 60-yard dash.

Keino ran for the first time indoors in his American debut. He said his legs tied up on him in the last few laps of the mile.

"But actually, I was just running the mile as a warmup for the two-mile," said Keino, who has broken the world outdoor record in the 3,000 and 5,000-meter distances.

in Wisconsin, is truly a business and a monopoly."

Allyn, who also hit out at the owners of the Braves for deserting Milwaukee, said afterwards that he was saying nothing that most baseball owners don't already accept Nor, he said, did he mean to imply that the monopoly was a bad thing

"When a monopoly is granted," he said, "there is also a responsibility attached and the more certain the monopoly, the more certain the responsibility."

He likened baseball's privileged position to that of a gas or electric utility that "can't cut your power off willy nilly."

In an interview prior to the dinner, Allyn predicted that newly installed baseball commissioner, William D. Eckert, would "make a very constructive move" once he gets all the facts on the shift of the Braves to Atlanta

Satisfy Both

Allyn would not predict just what Eckert might do, but said he would do something that would satisfy fans both on Atlanta and Milwaukee

He said all of baseball is deeply concerned over the impact on baseball's image of the anti-trust suits resulting from the transfer shift

The suit, Allyn said, "can't help us. It can't help the Braves I would like to know what the Braves are going to do if the court in Milwaukee rules they must play in Milwaukee and the court in Atlanta rules they must play in Atlanta"

Allyn suggested the Braves are in danger of being in contempt of court no matter what they do

Honor Cloninger

The writers honored Tony Cloninger, a 24 - game winner last season, as the most valuable player on the Braves and also presented awards to outfielder Hank Aaron and third baseman Ed Mathews

The Aaron - Mathews awards were in recognition of their combined major league home run total—803, the most by any two teammates in major league history

Pro Football Bonus Battle Will End Soon, Says Foss

WAUKESHA (AP) — Pro football's bonus battle for college players may end soon because owners will tire of it, says American League Commissioner Joe Foss.

No end appears in sight, says National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

Foss told a civic group in this Milwaukee suburb Saturday night that the war of the wallet would subside "when the rich get smart and realize they are losing money" by paying huge sums to untested rookies who may not prove to be pro material.

"The owners soon will get tired of paying out money for college stars," Foss said.

Rozelle had said a day earlier in Atlanta, "I imagine it will continue as long as NFL teams have sufficient income to pay for quality players."

Foss said it is "demoralizing for other members of a professional team to know that a youngster just out of college is getting three times as much as a veteran in the pro ranks."

The AFL commissioner, who disciplined the Boston Patriots' Nick Buonoconti after he griped publicly about bonuses paid rookies, urges players to make their complaints to him. "After all, I am the boss," he said.

Newspaper Report Claims

High-Salaried Rookies and No-Cut Contracts Caused St. Louis Trouble

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) The St Louis Globe-Democrat has quoted "a source close to the team" as saying the St Louis football Cardinals were disgruntled last season because of reportedly high-salaried rookies who had no-cut contracts.

The paper quoted the source in its Monday morning edition as saying that some of the veteran players "were in a state of near mutiny" as early as the first week of training drills.

"When camp opened," the unidentified source was quoted, "the veterans began probing the rookies about their salaries and found that most of them were making unrealistic sums And they had no-cut contracts."

Special Meeting

The newspaper said Coach Wall Lemm held a special meeting at the end of the first week of drills and told the players they should be concerned only with winning games and should forget trying to find out what their teammates were earning

The Globe-Democrat said one player told it, "I think he Lemm lost control of the team right there, that first week

The older Cardinal handlers were appalled by [illegible] coach's speech and the disparity between their salaries and the [illegible] being paid to benchwarmers and rookies not even on the [illegible] and the veterans [illegible] the season, the paper said

Lemm gave up his job recently [illegible] because the Cardinals wanted a year-around coach and Lemm said he couldn't devote that much time to the job The Cardinals, considered pennant contenders, had a 5-9 record last year.

Not Available

Cardinal officials were not available immediately for comment on the Globe-Democrat article.

The paper said two of "numerous cases in point" involved rookies Ray Ogden, a flanker, and Dave Simmons, a linebacker The paper said Ogden earned more than either Sonny Randle or Bobby Joe Conrad, the Cardinals' two top pass receivers, and Simmons received more than either Larry Stallings or Dale Meinert, two of the three starting linebackers.

The paper said Ogden had a no-cut contract and was kept along with seven others with no-cut pacts on the taxi squad Simmons was on the varsity, but the Globe-Democrat said many of his teammates felt it was because he was a No 2 draft choice a year ago and not because of his performance

The paper quoted one player as saying the salaries "were bad enough but it was the no-cut contracts which were really hard to swallow."

Really Deserved It

"If the money being paid those taxi squad players could have been divided among the players who really deserved it, you would have seen some guys play football last fall," he was quoted

The Globe-Democrat did not say how much the players made

Lemm, reached at his Lake Bluff, Ill., home, said the story was completely untrue.

"I don't think that's true at all," said Lemm when informed of the story "Sure, we had player meetings and all that but there was no such thing as a near mutiny or any discussion of salaries

"In fact," continued Lemm, "we didn't have any rookies with unrealistic salaries. We lost our first draft choice who was Joe Namath. And we didn't sign anyone who would be in the bracket with such rookies as Dick Butkus and Gale Sayers of the Chicago Bears."

pot, following passes from Dougherty and Anderson.

No Better Luck

If the Bobcats found an "invisible shield" blanketing the goal mouth, the visiting firemen were having no better luck against the acrobatic Mattson. The former University of Minnesota All-American, who had only a brief warmup, slapped away 27 shots — four more than opposite number Blackburn was required to blunt over the route — in blanking the Steers over the last two periods.

Rowe, who had gone the distance in Saturday night's victory, was removed after complaining of an upset stomach at the end of the first period.

Obviously off the form he displayed in the opener, the ex-Michigan Tech netminder kicked out eight Steers' shots in those first 20 minutes, but was licked for a pair of goals by Art Miller and another by Ken Williamson, the last two coming within a space of 9 seconds. Miller connected at 3:06 and the Steers nursed that margin until 16:02, when Williamson hit the left corner to cap a St. Paul flurry. Miller then quickly made it 3-0 at 16:11, drilling a 15-footer.

Massengale Wins Crown

Moler, a dentist, won the pro-am in a playoff against Bill Martindale and San Francisco businessman Bob Roos. Each team finished 72 holes with best-ball totals of 255.

Bogey Wins Playoff

As the pros had problems with errant shots, Dr. Moler carded a bogey which with his handicap stroke gave his team the victory and Courtney $4,000. The dentist received a silver dish.

Massengale pocketed $11,000 for beating the monster Pebble Beach course. There also were other benefits for a fellow who never before had won a major Professional Golfers' Association tournament.

He'll get a $1,000 guarantee for the Tournament of Champions in Las Vegas and a $600 guarantee plus a trip to England for the Carling World Tournament. And Massengale will be paired with other tournament champions in future PGA events.

Massengale started four strokes off the third round pace of Al Geiberger, caught and passed him with fantastic putting on the first nine holes and then held off his challengers.

The 190-pound Texan, cheered on by his wife, in the gallery, dropped a 25-foot putt for an eagle on the 497-yard, par 5, second hole. He sank a 15-footer on the third and from 20 and 17 on the seventh and eighth. With just one bogey, he made the turn at 32, two strokes ahead of Geiberger, four up on Martindale an dfive ahead of Palmer.

Battle for 17th

When Massengale bogeyed three of the first five holes on the back nine, the battle went to the 17th hole with the Texan just a one stroke ahead of his challengers. Palmer had dropped putts of 14 and 20 feet on the 15th and 16th holes to burst into contention.

Massengale parred the 190-yard 17th and then won on his gamble at the 18th. He had to hit his third shot under a tree limb and over a trap and he did it, winding up four feet from the hole and putting in for his only birdie on the back nine.

Palmer, playing behind him, then needed an eagle — less probable than a hole-in-one — and didn't pull off the miracle even though he did collect his birdie to capture second money. Geiberger and Martindale collected pars to tie for third place and win $4,000 apiece.

Jack Nicklaus, the 1965 money winning champion who was playing his first tournament of 1966, hit two tee shots into the ocean on the 18th, took a nine on the hole, a 76 for the round and a 295 total.

At 287 came Doug Sanders with a final round 71 and Randy Glover with a 70.

Other than hitting well from the floor (37 of 81 for 45.7 per cent as compared to 15 of 77 for 19.5 percent for DMLHS), the Foxes' ability to work as a team was evident as 27 assists were recorded. Dennis Neumann had six and Howie Korth, five.

Control Boards

The Foxes were able to control the boards, holding a 47-38 rebounding edge and they held the Rams top scorer, Gary Schoeneck, to six points; but he managed to pull down 12 rebounds to lead both teams in that department. Tiedt and Mark Dahlke were right behind with 11 and 10, respectively.

Fox Valley had four players in double figures as all but two got into the scoring column. Tiedt led with 17 followed by Ehlke with 16 and Korth and Dahlke with 11. The Rams were led by Tom Brauer with 8.

Ecumenical Service, Rights Talks Ignite Flaming Crosses

Baltimore Cardinal Backs Bill Banning Housing Discrimination

by THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two crosses flamed almost simultaneously in Baltimore, Md., late Sunday night, one on the lawn of a Roman Catholic church and another near the city's police headquarters.

The cross burnings came a few hours after Lawrence Cardinal Shehan of Baltimore and Negro Protestant ministers participated in Maryland's first ecumenical worship service elsewhere in the city at a theater.

One cross was borned on the lawn of the Cathedral of Mary Our Queen, and the other blazed in front of War Memorial Plaza, adjacent to the Baltimore Police Department headquarters in the heart of the city. The plaza was the scene of a hearing on an open occupancy bill Jan. 13.

Cardinal Shehan, who argued for the bill, was loudly booed at the hearing. The bill, which would have banned discrimination in the sale or rental of property, was rejected 13-8 by the City Council.

Voter Application

In Birmingham, Ala., 23 federal registrars, six of them Negroes, begin processing voter registration applicants today at three metropolitan area offices.

The Justice Department dispatched the examiners after three weeks of street demonstrations led by the Southern Christian Leadership Conference which had demanded night and neighborhood registration.

In another development, one of the leaders of the demonstrations in Birmingham, Hosea Williams, was arrested by police Sunday and charged with driving while intoxicated and reckless driving.

Williams disclaimed the charges. A hearing was set tonight.

In another racial development, two Negro leaders commended the Alabama Democratic Executive Committee for removing the white supremacy label from the official party emblem.

Democrats Together

Orzell Billingsley Jr., a Birmingham attorney and president of the predominantly Negro Alabama Democratic Conference, said removal of the white supremacy emblem will "get the real Democrats together now."

Dr. John Nixon, president of the Alabama chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People said, "The NAACP would like to commend the committee for its position and looks forward to open doors for all citizens."

Alabama Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers called its removal the "first and very necessary step to rebuild and reconstruct the Democratic party in Alabama."

In New York, Roy Wilkins, NAACP executive director, said his organization will investigate the death of David Colston at Camden, Ala.

Sheriff P.C. Jenkins said a white man, James T. Reeves, a cattleman and farmer, has been charged with murder in Colston's death. Jenkins said the incident had "no business at all with civil rights." About 50 Negroes tried to march in protest, but were turned back."

Anniversary of Churchill Death Met in Silence

Wreaths Placed on Statesman's Grave Britain's Tribute

LONDON (AP) — No fanfare marked the first anniversary today of Sir Winston Churchill's death — "just the way the Old Man would have wanted it," said one Englishman.

There were no elaborate memorial services, no editorials or tributes on radio and television extolling the wartime prime minister's achievements.

Churchill's grave in the Oxfordshire village of Bladon was shrouded in fog. No one appeared in the churchyard, but three simple wreaths had been placed on the grave.

One was from Lady Churchill — hyacinths and daffodils from the greenhouses of nearby Blenheim Palace where her husband was born.

Another from daughter Mary and her family bore the inscription: "Darling Papa, in most loving remembrance."

The Duke of Marlborough, the Lord of Blenheim Palace, also placed a wreath.

Bladon, 60 miles from London, is off the beaten track with no rail station and only a country bus service. No great influx of visitors was expected. About a million persons have visited the Churchill grave during the past year, however.

A concert was held Sunday in Blenheim Palace to commemorate the anniversary. About 400 attended. American pianist Julius Katchen was the soloist.

A memorial fund to set up traveling fellowships in Churchill's name has nearly reached its target of $8.4 million.

India's Woman Prime Minister

Mrs. Gandhi Takes Office

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Indira Gandhi became India's third prime minister today, taking office with a Cabinet made up largely of holdovers from the regimes of her father, Jawaharlal Nehru, and his successor, the late Lal Bahadur Shastri.

Like her father, the 48-year-old woman chose to "solemnly affirm" the twin oaths of office and of secrecy, administered to her by President Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan.

Oath takers in India may either swear before God or give a solemn affirmation.

Taking the oaths with Mrs. Gandhi were the Cabinet ministers whose appointments she announced earlier today. The key positions were left in the hands of men appointed by Nehru or Shastri.

Continue Course

The middle of the road balance shown in Mrs. Gandhi's selections was seen as evidence that she intends to continue India's course of nonalignment in foreign affairs and pragmatic socialism at home.

Opposition leaders in both India and Pakistan kept up attacks on the declaration President Ayub Khan of Pakistan and Shastri signed Jan. 10, at Tashkent, U.S.S.R., a few hours before Shastri's death.

Promise Broken

H.V. Kamath of India's Praja Socialist party said in a Calcutta speech that the government had weakened its argument that the disputed state of Kashmir is part of India. Kamath said the Tashkent accord also absolved Pakistan of what he called its responsibility for sending guerrillas into Kashmir before the September fighting erupted.

Madhu Limaya of India's Samyukta Socialist party said in Calcutta that the government had broken a promise to Parliament not to withdraw troops from strategic passes seized in the Pakistani sector of Kashmir.

Miss Fatima Jinnah, Ayub Khan's opponent in last year's Pakistani presidential elections, said in a message to her nation: "What the blood of our brave soldiers achieved was thrown away at the conference table."

Despite rising opposition in both countries, the Indian and Pakistani governments have shown no signs of backing out of their peace declaration and the machinery it set up to arrange troop withdrawals and reduction of tensions.

A copper urn bearing the ashes of Shastri was taken by a special train from New Delhi to Allahabad for immersion at the spot where the sacred Ganges and Jumna rivers flow together. Mrs. Gandhi and other dignitaries planned to fly to Allahabad for the ceremony Tuesday.

Portions of the ashes will also be scattered at other places throughout India.

Taft-Hartley Repeal To be Reintroduced

Mansfield's Bill Expected to Start First Big Fight of Senate Session

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield planned to move today to bring before the Senate the bill to repeal the Taft-Hartley Act's section 14B which authorizes states to outlaw union shop contracts.

The move would kick off the first big floor fight of the new Congress.

Senate Republicans again this year have organized filibuster teams which they are confident will block the repeal proposal.

And Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen said "I know of no change in the situation which prevailed last year" when Mansfield failed even in his attempt to bring the measure up for debate.

Doubts of success for a 14B repealer came also from Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana, assistant Senate Democratic leader.

Lack Majority

Long said Sunday on the CBS television-radio program "Face the Nation" that Mansfield would "make a real sincere effort to put the bill through. I'll do what I can to help him, but let me say frankly that we don't have a two-thirds majority which it takes to shut off a filibuster."

Sen. Paul J. Fannin, R-Ariz., said he believed President Johnson had made "an incredible request" in asking repeal of 14B in view of the New York transit strike and "other abuses of union power."

In an effort to soften some of the opposition to the measure, it is expected that amendments will be offered which would place some curbs on unions. But Dirksen already has said that no amount of softening will change his stand.

Opposition to compromise also has come from Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., who favors repeal. He said in a radio-television interview taped for New York stations "We are going to play fair with labor with the repeal of 14B and attempt to amend the Taft-Hartley law in separate legislation."

Filibuster Motion

Dirksen said the foes of the bill would filibuster Mansfield's preliminary motion to bring it up just as they did last October.

At that time, with Congress impatient to quit for the year, the majority leader kept his motion before the Senate for 12 days. Normally, it would have been adopted in routine fashion.

But Dirksen's forces would not permit a vote and Mansfield lost heavily in an attempt to invoke cloture and choke off the talkfest.

Elsewhere at the capitol, most of this week's activity will be in committees.

Battle Shaping For Soda Gulping Championship

COOKEVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A championship soft drink drinker for one day, Ed Culican of Liverpool, N.Y., has been toppled from his throne of soda pop.

Culican, a student at Tennessee Tech, claimed a record of sorts Saturday when he downed 140 ounces of soda pop in 30 minutes.

Sunday, along came sophomore Bill Alexander of Bethesda, Tenn., who consumed 150 ounces in 26 minutes, 20 seconds.

Now they are promoting a world-wide championship contest. It will be held Saturday afternoon.

Blaze Destroys Building of Ashland Press

ASHLAND (AP)— A predawn fire destroyed the Ashland Daily Press building in subzero weather Sunday with damage estimated at up to $250,000, but the presses were rolling again today.

"We'll put out a paper," promised managing editor Norris Simpson.

The Press was being printed overnight at Superior and copies were going trucked the 65 miles back to this northern Wisconsin community so subscribers would not miss an issue.

The blaze, which swept the one-story brick building in 10-below-zero temperatures, started in a furnace room, firemen said. A bakery, a bus depot, a restaurant and a three-story building housing electric utility offices were damaged by water and smoke.

The newspaper was preparing to move into newly remodeled quarters in a building a block away about March 1, but some new equipment was housed in the structure destroyed Sunday.

39 Rescued In Fierce Sea

Breakup of British Tanker Threatened in New York Grounding

NEW YORK (AP) — A pilot boat tender rescued 39 men in a dangerous maneuver as fierce wind and waves threatened for hours to break up a British tanker damaged and aground in the Atlantic 15 miles south of Manhattan.

The weather improved today, with 13 men still aboard the 665-foot tanker loaded with crude oil.

The Coast Guard said the ship was "in no immediate danger." The wind subsided to 30 knots and the waves to 5 feet.

The Coast Guard cutter Yeaton and seagoing tug Tamora and two commercial tugboats stood by to take off the 13 men after daybreak.

Grounded Sunday

The 21,352 gross-ton tanker Chelwood Beacon ran aground Sunday a half-mile east of the Sandy Hook, N.J., lighthouse.

The Coast Guard reported winds of 40 to 45 knots and waves up to 25 feet at 8 p.m., and the tanker was said to be in imminent danger of breaking up. Snow and fog hampered rescue possibilities.

The ship first lay in an east-west position after going aground. The wind and waves were so strong they forced her 90 degrees to a north-south position.

During the howling storm, as 20-foot waves broke over the tanker, a 44-foot pilot boat tender went alongside and removed the 39 men in two loads over a three-hour period.

Moroccan Relations With France Failing

PARIS (AP) — Relations between France and Morocco deteriorated further today. King Hassan II rejected French charges that his interior minister masterminded the abduction in Paris of Moroccan opposition leader Mehdi Ben Barka, and France recalled its ambassador to Morocco.

Moroccan sources in Rabat, the Moroccan capital, predicted that President Charles de Gaulle might break relations with France's former North African protectorate.

As French Ambassador Robert Gillet prepared to leave Rabat, sources in the Moroccan capital said Prince Moulay Ali, the Moroccan envoy to Paris, also would be called home.

In a note to the Moroccan government, the French minister of the interior organized the kidnaping of Ben Barka and that the Moroccan minister of the interior and several of his direct collaborators participated personally in the last phases of the operation.

"In the absence of adequate action by the Moroccan government, the French government, to its great regret, si led to recall its ambassador to Morocco."

Hassan accused France of a maneuver "designed to besmirch Morocco's honor."

The flight No. 976, originated in Bogota and made stops at Panama and Miami. An Eastern Airlines crew flew it from Miami to New York.

Gray Retains Great Lakes Skating Title

Mary Sands Upsets Diane White for Women's Crown

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Tom Gray, unhampered by near-zero weather or a snow-shortened track, flashed to victory in the 880 Sunday to win the Great Lakes men's speeding skating championship for the second straight year

Mrs Mary Sands of Madison upset defending titlist Diane White of St Paul, Minn., for the women's crown

Gray, a 1964 Olympian from Minneapolis, Minn., captured the opening three events Saturday and his victory in the half-mile, coupled with a third-place finish in the 220, gave him so many points that he was able to sit out the five-mile finale

The college student had 23 points to 15 for runnerup Neil Blatchford of Northbrook, Ill., a former national champion, who captured the 220 Third was Floyd Bedbury of St Paul, Minn., another Olympian, who won the five-mile marathon, with Wayne Le Bombard of West Allis second in the event

Track Shortened

The track was shortened from one-sixth mile to one-eight mile because of the 10 inches of snow covering the city The change prevented any challenge to meet records

Mrs Sands won the 220 and Miss White the mile in Sunday's women's events after they split two races Saturday But Miss White failed to place in the 220 and Mrs Sands was second in the mile to edge the former national champion for the over-all crown

Mrs Sands' brother, Ray Novak of Lilacia, Ill., nipped Pete Cefalu of West Allis for the intermediate boys' title Young Jenny Fish of Lakewood, Ohio, was impressive in winning the intermediate girls' crown

Other champions included Dave Meier of West Allis among junior boys and Pete Mueller of Madison among midget boys Northbrook, Ill., took the team title, with Urbana Champaign, Ill., second and West Allis third

St. Catherine Hands Pius '5' First Defeat

Monona Grove to Duel Monroe; GBW Faces Manitowoc

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

East is 11-0 and West is 11-0 and shall the twain never meet?

Not unless it's in the state tourney finals.

Unbeaten Green Bay West, the state's second-ranked high school basketball team, matched the victory string of No. 1 Madison East by crushing winless Green Bay Southwest 72 - 50. They were left the state's two most prominent unbeaten teams when Milwaukee Pius tumbled Sunday

While just a few voting points separate the pair in the weekly ratings, there will be an opportunity for a direct comparison of the two powerhouses only if both should reach state public tournament finals and collide in March at Madison Both will stay busy with conference races in the meantime

Green Bay West got 32 points from Rob Westphal against Southwest Saturday night to follow his 35 - point performance against Fond du Lac Friday night. Manitowoc (9-2) took over second alone, two games behind West, in the Fox River Valley Conference as Fond du Lac (7 - 4) spilled Sheboygan South (8-3) in an 83-81 upset.

Madison East, which shook off Janesville 63-49 Friday night, had its Big Eight lead trimmed to half a game when Racine Horlick (10-2) jumped on Janesville 58-41 Saturday night.

Pulls Into Tie

No 3 Milwaukee Lincoln (10-1), which humiliated Horlick in an early nonconference match, pulled into a tie with Milwaukee Washington in their City Conference race by beating Milwaukee Marshall 94-76 Saturday night Lincoln had given Washington (8-3) its first conference loss 83-59 the previous night.

No 4 Milwaukee Pius (13-1), with more wins than any other team in the state, was bumped off the unbeaten list 76-68 Sunday by Racine St. Catherine (12-2)

St Catherine threw a punishing press at Pius and romped to a 45-25 halftime lead The victory elevated St Catherine into a tie with Pius and Milwaukee Messmer (12-2) for first place in the Milwaukee area Catholic Conference

No 5 Appleton Xavier (12-1) stampeded Green Bay Premontre 83 - 49 Saturday night. The teams below Xavier in the "Big Ten" were idle Saturday, but Barron (10-0), just squeezed off the list in last week's voting, blasted Bruce 91-56

Top games this week send Green Bay West against Manitowoc, its closest Fox Valley threat, and No 6 Monona Grove (11 - 1) against defending state champion Monroe (10 - 2), tied with the Silver Eagles for the Badger Conference lead Both are Friday affairs Madison East plays Kenosha Bradford the same night

Urge Building Of New Overpass In Brown County

Young Democrats Set Convention In Manitowoc

MADISON Wisconsin's 4,000 Young Democrats will hold their 1966 Convention March 25-27 in Manitowoc State Chairman Conrad Goodkind announced

The March convention will prove the stiffest test yet for the reform group within the Young Democrats The organization has taken several controversial positions including opposition to U S policy in Viet Nam and condemnation of Milwaukee assemblymen who opposed fair housing legislation These questions are expected to dominate platform debate

Other issues of expected disagreement are proposals to extend the chairman's term to two years and to reorganize the state executive committee The organization is expected to reaffiliate its close connection with its senior party It is also expected to endorse President Johnson's Great Society Legislation

Pacific Ocean Takes Toll on Nicklaus, Official, Marshall

By DEREK SCHOEN

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Big Jack Nickaus took on the ocean and lost Sunday in the final round of the Bing Crosby Golf Tournament

Nicklaus was one under par for the round and among the tournament leaders when he teed off on the 18th hole and set off the following sequence

—The drive bounced off the fairway, hit some rocks and disappeared in the blue Pacific lining the hole.

Taking a two-stroke penalty, Nicklaus hit a second drive which also skidded into the ocean But this time a determined Nicklaus decided to look for the ball

—Nicklaus was given a total of 10 minutes to look for the two balls. If he could find neither, he faced only a one-stroke penalty instead of losing two more

—A PGA official, George Walsh, promptly stumbled and fell into the water

—Then a tournament marshal, Army Sgt Jack Cummings from nearby Fort Ord, entered the chilly water, disappearing from time to time as a big gallery cheered and laughed

—When the ball couldn't be found, Nicklaus hit another drive His sixth shot landed within several yards of the seawall, bringing another gasp from the crowd

—Nicklaus pitched the next shot to the edge of the green, then two-putted when his first try from 20 feet lipped the cup but refused to go in

All told, it took him nine shots to get down and boosted his total score to 295, far off the winning pace But, despite all his troubles, Nicklaus appeared unperturbed

"It will happen here," was all the Columbus, Ohio, golfer said And he recalled taking a nine in the Tucson Open of three years ago "although it wasn't quite as spectacular as here"

LAKE WINNEBAGO — Northwest side. Owners miss this home — they were real comfortable in it — but 3 bedrooms (1 is 252 sq. ft.) were not enough for them, so they moved. If you like to be cozy by a fire while you admire autumn woods through lots of windows, protected from the street; if you like a shady yard in the summer; and quiet enough to hear the frogs in the Spring, but want city utilities and conveniences, you might like to buy this home in this prestige area.

Indian Jet Crashes; 117 Killed

Airplane Bound for New York Hits Mountain in France

CHAMONIX, France (AP) — An Air India jetliner with 117 persons reported aboard crashed into snow-covered Mont Blanc today and the French police said no survivors could be found.

The gendarmerie headquarters here at the foot of Western Europe's highest mountain said a helicopter landed at the crash scene but no one was found alive.

The plane, on a flight from India to New York, crashed at a point called La Tournette, about 1,500 feet below the peak on the Chamonix side. It was preparing to land at Geneva.

The French police said it would be impossible to send a land party up the 15,781-foot mountain at this season. The bodies were to be brought down by helicopter.

106 Passengers

Air India said the Boeing 707 jet carried 106 passengers — eight of them bound for New York — and a crew of 11.

The airline said one of the passengers was the chairman of India's Atomic Energy Commission, Dr. Homi J. Bhabha, 57, who was en route to Vienna, Austria for a meeting of the International Atomic Energy Agency.

The airline said an earlier report that the Indian irrigation minister, K. L. Rao, was aboard was incorrect. It said he boarded the plane at Bombay but left it at New Delhi, its first stop.

The airline said 20 of the passengers were to get off in Geneva, 54 were going to Paris and 24 to London.

Officials at Geneva's Cointrin Airport said Capt. J.T. D'Souza, the plane captain, received a green light for landing after reporting his position four miles from Mont Blanc.

Veteran Pilot

D'Souza was copilot on Pope Paul VI's flight from Rome to Bombay last year, and a veteran of 18 years on the Bombay-New York run.

D'Souza reported his instruments were in perfect working order and that he was approaching Mont Blanc in an altitude of 19,000 feet — a safe margin over the peak.

Seconds later, all radio and radar contact with the plane was lost.

Bobby Baker Enters Plea Of Innocent

Former Senate Democratic Aide Faces 9 Charges

WASHINGTON (AP)—Bobby Baker, former secretary to Senate Democrats, pleaded innocent today to a nine-count indictment charging him with tax evasion, conspiracy, theft, transportation of stolen money and fraud. His trial was set for Oct. 17.

Baker, 38, said only "not guilty" as he stood before U.S. Dist. Judge Mathew McGuire after a court clerk read the list of charges against him.

Baker, wearing a blue suit, shirt and tie, sat in the courtroom for about 10 minutes as he waited for his arraignment.

His attorneys, Edward Bennett Williams of Washington and Boris Kostelanetz of New York, accompanied him to the bench when his case was called.

Set Bail

McGuire, on the suggestion of Asst. U. S. Atty. William Bittman, set Baker's bail at $5,000. He ordered Baker fingerprinted after the arraignment and told his lawyers to be sure all motions pertaining to the trial are out of the way by June 27.

As he left the courtroom, Baker was surrounded by newsmen and curious bystanders. But Williams said neither Baker nor his attorneys would comment on the case.

Former Nevada Lt. Gov. Clifford Jones, who was indicted for perjury in the case, pleaded innocent in the same court last week. His trial was scheduled for May 23.

Seal Hunter Adrift on Ice For 15 Hours

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — A 53-year-old seal hunter spent 15 hours on a drifting ice floe before being picked up Sunday by a helicopter 40 miles off the west coast of the Alaska Peninsula.

The hunter, Migeley Kelly of the fishing village of Egegik, was reported in good condition today in the Alaska native hospital where he was taken for treatment of frostbitten hands and back pains.

Kelly and fellow hunter Dimitri Oaks were crossing the ice of Egegik Bay, about 400 miles southwest of here, Saturday when it broke up and left him stranded on a chunk about 12 feet square. Oaks made it to shore.

Kelly was swept out into Bristol Bay, where Air Force officials reported there were winds of about 45 miles an hour, temperatures of around 30 degrees and swells 10 to 20 feet high.

$568 Per Capita Projected Federal Spending for '67

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson wants the government to spend $568.26 for each man, woman and child in the country in the year starting July 1.

That's what the President's proposed $112.8-billion budget comes to on a per capita basis, using the Census Bureau's estimate that the population on Jan. 1, 1967 — the middle of the fiscal year — will be 198,549,600.

By the end of the fiscal year June 30, 1967, the public debt will total $321.7 billion, Johnson said. Based on a fiscal year-end population estimate of 199,845,600, that comes to $1,609.74 per person.

The Census Bureau figures that the population goes up by 1 2 every second — or 7,200 per day. The figures are computed from the time the bureau stopped its official census count at 10 a.m. EST on Aug. 26, 1965 when the population reached 195 million.

Johnson Presents Record $112.8-Billion U.S. Budget

Expenses of Waging War, Additional Nuclear Arms Estimated at $57 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — For $57.15 billion, President Johnson calculates, the United States can provide in the next fiscal year whatever is needed for waging war in Viet Nam and add to general defenses such items as a second nuclear carrier.

This was outlined in the military portion of the federal budget for fiscal 1967 which the President sent to Congress today.

Submission of the annual budget followed by only a few days a Pentagon request for a $12.3-billion addition to the current military budget.

That supplemental request, the second augmentation of the budget for the fiscal year ending next June 30, provided all of the manpower increase requested for this and the next fiscal year to reach an authorized strength by June 30, 1967, of 3,093,000 men in the armed forces. Therefore, the new budget shows no further increase.

Two Supplements

Similarly, the two supplements to the current budget probably accounted for a large part of the planned procurement of ammunition for the next year and a half. Those supplements raised the total of ammunition procurement, which Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara says will make available "massive firepower" in Viet Nam, to $4.1 billion.

The budget proposals contained somewhat of a surprise for the Navy — Johnson asked funds to begin building another atomic carrier.

The Navy had been urging another nuclear carrier for several years, basing its recommendation on the performance of the first such carrier, the Enterprise.

The proposed new carrier will use two, instead of the four reactors powering the Enterprise. But improvement in reactor efficiency is expected to give the new carrier substantially the speed and range of the Enterprise. The cost, however, probably will not be many millions below that of the Enterprise because of rising material and labor prices. Speculation had been that the new carrier might cost about $400 million.

Johnson dropped into his budget message a sentence mentioning "initial procurement of the new, improved Minuteman LLL" missile.

His message did not elaborate on the Minuteman III. However, he may have been referring to reported improvements and refinements of the Minuteman II series, believed to include devices to help the warhead escape detection and interception. The range and other characteristics may not be greatly changed, but the "penetration aid" devices would be of major importance.

There were published reports in April 1964 of a test of a Minuteman missile which showed some remarkable characteristics. As the test missile arched downward toward its target, several rocket-powered warheads were released from the capsule. Radar and other electronic tracking gear which had been following the warhead suddenly showed confusion. False blips and patterns showed on the screen, while the main warhead plunged on into the target.

The budget proposal also calls

President Promises He Will Return for More if War In Viet Nam Gets Bigger

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson sent to Congress today a $112.8-billion budget, by far the biggest in history, with a notice that he may come back for more money and new taxes if the war in Viet Nam gets hotter.

He warned also that the military build-up, on top of an expected 7 per cent surge in national output, will "raise the threat of price instability" as the booming economy nears full employment.

This inflationary risk makes necessary "some moderate restraint through tax policy," Johnson said. He asked quick approval of the $4.8-billion step-up of income, corporate and excise taxes already sent to Congress.

These revenues, plus the tax collections generated by an unprecedented sixth straight year of economic growth, Johnson said, will provide $111 billion of receipts in fiscal 1967 and bring the budget within $1.8 billion of a balance.

That would be the smallest deficit in seven years — and it can be achieved, Johnson said, even with a net increase of $2.1 billion in spending for his "Great Society" programs of education, health, housing and manpower development.

"Inflation need not be the price of social progress; nor should it be a cost of defending freedom," Johnson told Congress.

His blueprint for taxing and spending in the government year starting next July 1 had these further highlights:

Defense —

Outlays for over-all defense-related spending will soar to $60.5 billion, up more than $10 billion from last year and nearly $4 billion from this year. Besides building muscle for Viet Nam, the Pentagon will start a second $400-million nuclear-powered aircraft carrier and begin procurement of the Minuteman III, an advanced intercontinental missile.

Poverty War

Poverty —

The second full year of the war on poverty will bring outlays of $1.6 billion compared to $1.2 billion this year.

Space —

The first downturn in space outlays is budgeted — $5.3 billion in fiscal 1967 as against $5.6 billion this year. But this will "sustain our progress in space exploration" and not alter the major goal, a man on the moon in this decade.

Taxes —

A small but unexpected further tax boost was proposed—a rise from 5 to 6 per cent in the excise levy on airplane passenger tickets.

Federal outlays for education were estimated at $2.8 billion, a 23 per cent increase from this year as the new programs passed by Congress in 1965 hit full stride.

Labor—

5 Persons Die In Collision of Private Planes

Former Appleton Woman Victim of Rockton Crash

ROCKTON, Ill. (AP) — Five persons were killed Sunday as two private planes collided over a cornfield near Rockton, about five miles south of Beloit, Wis.

Among the victims was a former Appleton, Wis., woman, her husband and their daughter. Their son was critically injured.

Killed were James Badner, 30, owner of a photography studio at Aurora, Ill.; his 29-year-old wife, the former Gail Samuelson of Appleton; their 2-year-old daughter, Janie; Harry H. Toigo, 30, an Aurora businessman, and Francis Perrault, 28, Chicago, Ill.

Perrault was a student pilot, police said.

Just Took Off

The Badners and Toigo, executive of a soft drink firm, had just taken off from an air strip at the Wagon Wheel Lodge, a restaurant and resort near Rockton. Perrault was flying alone from Janesville, Wis., to Joliet, Ill., practicing landings and takeoffs, authorities said.

A witness, Leslie Coan of Rockford, Ill., said the planes were flying parallel when one suddenly banked and the two collided.

The Badners' craft plunged into a field. The bodies were pinned in the wreckage with the daughter in Mrs. Badner's arms.

Perrault's plane shattered as it plummeted into a grove of trees.

Allied Forces Launch New Searches for Communists

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U. S. and South Vietnamese forces set out with renewed vigor to search out the Communists in several major operations today after a lunar New Year truce that brought scant peace to Viet Nam.

As the 3½-day allied truce expired at 6 o'clock Sunday night, U. S. Air Force planes went into action and struck a Viet Cong main force. A forward air controller estimated 190 Communists killed, a U. S. spokesman said.

The ground thrusts brought no immediate significant contact with the guerrillas, but the spokesman said several major search and destroy operations were shaping up.

Mekong Delta

Twenty-five F100 Supersabers made the big strike in two waves at 6:25 p.m. and 7:40 p.m. against a Communist encampment 35 miles southwest of Saigon in the Mekong Delta. The jets came under heavy ground fire, but there were no losses, the spokesman said.

He said they destroyed 30 buildings, damaged 35 and set off a secondary explosion that may have indicated a hit on a fuel or ammunition dump.

U. S. Marine artillerymen opened fire a minute after the allied truce ended. The four-day Viet Cong cease-fire expired seven hours later, but the Communists brushed with South Vietnamese forces in a number of minor skirmishes before then.

DA NANG (AP) — The huge Da Nang airbase came under Viet Cong mortar attack early Tuesday morning, a U. S. military spokesman announced.

The Viet Cong raised a new threat against their U. S. prisoners by demanding the release of three terrorists who were arrested with 265 pounds of explosives Jan. 7 in a plot to bomb a U. S. military billet in Saigon.

A Hanoi broadcast said the United States and South Viet Nam would "have to bear full responsibility" if they imprisoned, tortured or executed these "patriots."

The Communists issued such warnings before their reported execution of three American prisoners last year in reprisal for executions by the South Vietnamese. The Viet Cong statement implied that a similar fate might befall the 22 Americans last reported held by them.

It said that "up to now" they had treated their captives humanely but added: "Blood debt must be paid in blood. The U. S. aggressors and their flunkies will be punished for their illegal and murderous acts."

The 7th Fleet reported the disappearance of a twin-engine Grumman antisubmarine patrol plane on a mission over the Gulf of Tonkin 102 miles southeast of the North Vietnamese port of Haiphong. Searchers found no trace of the plane or its three crew members.

Normal Operations

As the orders to resume "normal operations" went into effect Sunday night, four U.S. Air Force twin-jet B57s struck out from Da Nang and bombed a cluster of suspected Viet Cong positions about 40 miles to the south.

Return to Red Cliff

VISTA Girls Treated To Welcome Dinner

RED CLIFF (AP) — Indians feasted on macaroni, sandwiches and potato salad Sunday night in a tribal celebration for the return of two domestic peace corps coeds cast off this cold and remote reservation a month ago.

The small, frame tribal hall, padlocked in December to keep the pair out, was jammed as the Red Cliff Indians welcomed back Judy Rothman, 20, University City, Mo., and Jill Hunt, 22, Kewanee, Ill.

The two sociology students arrived Saturday after being reassigned here by officials of Volunteers in Service to America (VISTA). The tribal council had voted 5-2 Jan. 3 to invite them back.

Potluck Supper

Many of the 300 tribal members greeted the coeds at the potluck supper in their honor Sunday night. Judy won an apron in a bingo game afterwards.

"We're really happy to be back," she said, "and everybody has been happy to see us. It's all been very favorable."

Judy and Jill originally arrived here on the snow-clad shores of Lake Superior near Bayfield in October. They were ordered out by the tribe two months later on charges of refusing to cooperate with local programs and disrupting the community. The charges were rejected at the January meeting.

Subzero temperatures Sunday failed to affect the turnout at the supper and everyone brought their specialty, macaroni, casseroles, salads, and everything," Judy said.

Youth Club

The two VISTA workers met in the afternoon with the youth club, whose members had been among their strongest supporters, and took steps toward setting up a tutoring program for elementary school pupils. More meetings were planned tonight and Wednesday.

"It's been just fantastic," said Judy.

Tribal chairman Henry Daley, a 44-year-old factory worker, met with the VISTA volunteers Saturday to discuss expansion of programs on the reservation. Alex Rove, a former tribal chairman, gave a welcoming speech for them Sunday night.

The students expressed hope that the publicity that had accompanied the tribal dispute over the new federal program would end now and said, "For the sake of the people on the reservation, let's let it die."

Eastern United States Recovers From Storm

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The populous eastern seaboard's first big storm of the winter rolled out to sea today, leaving mounds of snow, slush and misery. At least 12 persons were dead of heart attacks, attributed to shoveling snow or pushing stalled cars.

The snow and freezing rain, whipped by gale-force winds, battered sections from Arkansas to New England Saturday night and Sunday, downing power lines, flooding coastal areas and icing highways.

The storm center had moved into the Atlantic south of Nova Scotia today, leaving cleared skies. But overnight temperatures plummeted to subfreezing levels and many areas seemed destined to have snowdrift and sludge around for awhile.

Holds Up Traffic

The storm hampered plane and bus transportation. Railroad trains got through.

New York City declared a snow emergency to help clear its 6,000 miles of streets.

The Buffalo, N.Y., suburb of Lancaster reported a two-foot snowfall. In Buffalo, where 17.6 inches of snow fell in 24 hours, the airport was closed and a public and parochial school holiday was declared today.

In New York's Lower Bay, the British tanker Chelwood Beacon battled 40 to 45 knot winds and 25-foot seas as the vessel went aground a half-mile east of Sandy Hook, N.J.

The wind and sea abated early today and 12 crewmen and a harbor pilot remained aboard the craft, which was declared out of immediate danger. Thirty-nine crewmen were taken off the 665-foot vessel.

High tides, up to six feet above normal, swept into low-lying coastal areas.

Nearly 100 persons were evac-

1965 Calumet Welfare Costs Showed Decrease of $13,000

State, Federal Funds Also Down, Director's Annual Report Shows

CHILTON — Costs of the 1965 public welfare service showed a drop of $12,988 under those of 1964, according to the annual report of the Calumet County Department of Public Welfare made by director Florence Woelfel.

Total expenditures for the past year were $210,896, compared with $223,884 in 1964.

State and federal reimbursements in 1965 amounted to $161,198, about $12,000 less than the preceding year.

This left a cost to the county of $47,786 in 1965, about $3,000 less than was expended by the county in 1964.

Of the total welfare costs, all but $33,893 for administrative expenses, went to finance the aid and service programs for the county.

The four social security aid programs — blind aid, aid to dependent children, old age assistance and aid to totally and permanently disabled persons - are the county, state and federal-financed assistance programs.

Aid to Blind

Social services to dependent children include counseling on child care, home management, personal and family problems, reconciling separated families, obtaining support from deserting fathers, planning for medical care, finding living quarters and work training.

Smallest in case loads and costs is the blind aid program with only two persons qualifying last year. However, costs of the program increased slightly over 1964.

Payments to recipients totaled $1,068 and medical care reached $519. Since the county received $1,489 in state and federal reimbursement, this left a net cost to the county of $97.33.

Payments to dependent children decreased by nearly $12,000, due to a decreased case lead.

Last year 26 families received aid compared with 39 in 1964. Of this total, aid was given to 72 children, 23 mothers and two incapacitated fathers.

Reasons for dependency were death of fathers in four families with a total of 13 children, imprisonment of father in one family with two children, abandonment of parent in 10 families with 27 children, divorce of parents in five families affecting 14 children, incapacitation of father in three families with 11 children, and unmarried mothers in three families affecting five children. A total of five children was cared for in 19 foster homes last year.

During the year 15 new applications were received, and six were granted. Six were denied or withdrawn because of ineligibility while three applications are pending. Eight new applications for aid to dependent children in foster homes were received and granted.

Cases Closed

Sixteen cases were closed during the year.

Aid to three dependent children in foster homes was discontinued.

At the year's end the active caseload stood at 11 families including 27 children, nine mothers and one incapacitated father. Twenty-two children are being cared for in foster homes.

Costs for the year included $23,025, payments to recipients; $8,444, payments to foster homes and $4,902 in payments

Read Those Contracts, Police Warn

NEW LONDON—Police Chief Jack Algiers warns residents to read contracts carefully before they sign purchase agreements with transient salesmen.

Algiers said a number of complaints had been received from residents on a group of magazine salesmen who canvassed the city, stating that the rates were for a greater price and longer period of time than the buyers thought.

Algiers said most of the door-to-door salesmen were ethical, but a person should make sure of what he is buying and the terms of the purchase before closing a deal.

Transient salesmen are required to register with the police department prior to canvassing the city.

Hope to Promote Understanding

Monday Night Club to Organize People-to-People Unit at Waupaca

WAUPACA — The Monday Night Club has assumed the responsibility of organizing a Waupaca chapter of People-To-People, Inc. The move followed an orientation meeting Saturday noon at Simpson's Restaurant.

Mrs. Lester Breier, Monday Night club president, volunteered the services of the group to organize the chapter. Ten of the 23 persons at the luncheon meeting indicated they were interested in joining the chapter. Ten members are needed to obtain a charter.

Compares to Colonies

Donald Faurot, Kansas City, Mo., field representative of People-to-People, explained the functions of the organization and cited some of its accomplishments.

He compared the work of the organization to that of the first 13 American colonies. Faurot mentioned the racial, financial and border barriers which dissolved as the colonies united to become a strong nation. He said the barriers dissolved when the people started to know each other and find out how many things they had in common.

Faurot said the group operates in a similar manner by breaking down barriers between people. He said this should have been done 25 years ago and 25 years from now it might be too late to become effective.

Functions of the organization are to obtain information for person - to - person correspondence, matching data on cities for the sister city program and helping foreign students in the United States at colleges and universities.

Promote Understanding

It also orients persons planning to visit foreign countries so they can meet the people as well as see the sights. "We do all within our power to promote understanding," he said.

Other activities can be operated through existing organizations, such as the promotion of an international night. This would feature foreign foods and speakers with emphasis on learning more about foreign customs and activities, Faurot said.

He suggested the program also is enlightening in language courses at high schools. Students, he indicated, have more interest in translating a letter from another student than translating a page in a textbook.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mather offered to be hosts for the first meeting. Mayor Lloyd Mathewson also volunteered the use of city hall for meetings.

Clifford Johnson, who arranged the orientation meeting Saturday, introduced the speaker, mayor and representatives of the eight or nine clubs.

Final CATV Proposals Due For FCC Review

Tighter Federal Controls Proposed For Study Feb. 10

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission will hold a special session Feb. 10 to consider making final its proposed tighter federal controls over all forms of Community Antenna Television (CATV).

At least a 4-3 majority of the commission is believed to be in favor of making the rules final, in the absence of congressional action that would have eliminated the need for the FCC to act.

The commission announced last April proposed rules that would give it jurisdiction over all CATV systems—those operating over cables as well as those using the FCC-controlled air waves via microwave relay systems.

Protect Stations

At the heart of one regulation controversy is the so-called "non duplication requirement" dear to the hearts of broadcasters and anathema to CATV operators. Now in effect over microwave CATV systems, it would be expanded to cover cable systems if the FCC makes final its rules.

Aimed at protecting regular television stations, the requirement prohibits local CATV systems from duplicating the programs of local television stations with imports from out-of-town stations for 15 days before or after the local stations air such programs.

The local systems are also required to carry the programs of all local stations simultaneously with their local broadcast, in addition to whatever programs they may bring in from distant stations.

Same Program

This, if a Decatur, Ill., station were carrying "the Telephone Hour," the local CATV outlet would have to offer the same program to local subscribers at the same time—it could not carry for 15 days after or before (in the case of a taped program) the "Telephone Hour" signal being beamed from Chicago.

Sources close to the commission say the Feb. 10 meeting will probably be the first of several, with a final vote coming in late spring or early summer.

Flags can be ordered through the Auxiliary. The Auxiliary will offer a $50 scholarship, members decided last week. It will be offered to a girl who has completed one year of college with a 2.0 average. Entrants for the scholarship must complete an essay entitled "Why I Want to Continue My Education."

It also was decided to sponsor a student at Badger Girls State.

A donation of $25 was sent to the U.S.O. for use in Viet Nam.

A contribution also was made for a scholarship to be awarded to a social science teacher.

Hilbert Civic Group Maps 1966 Program

Advancement Association Will Sponsor Farm Institute Dinner; Names New Officers, Director

HILBERT — Activities for the coming year were planned and new officers elected at the annual meeting Thursday of the Hilbert Advancement Association.

Activities will include a dairy dinner during the Farm Institute, a July 4th picnic and an athletic and honor banquet.

Officers elected were Joseph Zachek, president, Charles Parsons, vice president, and Herbert Krueger, secretary. Gordon Hauser was re-elected treasurer. Clarence Stengel, retiring president, was named to the board to replace Raymond Krautkramer, whose term had expired.

Leonard Suttner, Orville Manz and Parsons served on the nominating committee.

Dairy Dinner

The group will sponsor a dairy dinner for the annual Farm Institute, Feb. 8 at the high school. County Agent Orrin Meyer, said the institute at Hilbert had received the best attendance because of its central location.

The association will sponsor the annual July 4th picnic. Sponsorship alternates each year with the volunteer fire department. This year the park board had been asked if it would like to accept sponsorship, but because of its small membership, declined the offer, Stengel reported.

The new president will appoint a committee to arrange the event.

The association also will continue sponsoring the annual athletic and honor banquet for high school students and their parents. Clarence Hemauer, chairman, will select a committee.

Lloyd Loewe volunteered to be chairman of the Boy Scout fund drive, conducted in the village for the Fox Valley Boy Scout Council. The association sponsors the local troop, under the leadership of Willard Franz. Quota for the village is $300.

Retiring secretary Leonard Suttner reviewed the highlights of last year's activities, which included a Valentine party for members and their wives, a victory lunch for the high school basketball team, which earned co-championship honors, and a dairy dinner for the Farm Institute. The group donated $50 to the Hilbert Community Scholarship which will go to an out standing student.

Other Activities

Other activities were the annual athletic and honor banquet, a testimonial dinner honoring Armin Hernke, local businessman and civic leader for 50 years of service to the community, and a "mixer" for businessmen's groups from Stockbridge, Sherwood and Forest Junction.

Three new highway signs promoting Hilbert as "The Milk Vein of the World" and "Home of Wispride Cheese" were sponsored by the group. Continuation of the summer recreation program also received backing from the organization.

An appreciation night for teachers was another undertaking of the businessmen, who contributed $300 towards the house numbering project in the village and $30 in prize money for the holiday home decorating contest.

A 100 per cent membership will be the aim of the group this year. All businessmen will be contacted to join the association. Gordon Hauser reported that last year's 50 members was the highest membership in history. Honorary memberships in addition were extended to the local clergy, teachers and village employes.

In his farewell address, Stengel recommended the group conduct only six dinner meetings a year and expressed appreciation for the co-operation of fellow officers and members.

for medical care to recipients with $626 being paid for medical care to foster children.

Of the $36,999 total expenditure, $32,122 was received in state and federal funds leaving a cost to the county of $4,877.

Old Age Assistance

Old age assistance is the largest program in caseload and costs. Although the caseload is decreasing, costs of medical services are increasing.

Last year 108 persons received old age assistance. Twenty-five new applications were received, of which 20 were granted while one was withdrawn because of ineligibility. Four applications are pending. The active caseload at the end of 1965 was 78 cases.

Thirty cases were closed.

A breakdown of costs shows $27,975 in payments to recipients: $84,445 in medical expenses and $1,075 for funerals.

Total costs reached $113,495 a decrease of about $5,000 over those of 1964. Of the total cost, state and federal funds paid $89,736 leaving a net cost to the county of $21,847. The county's share of estate collections was $1,912 of the $9,561 taken in. Two estates are pending in probate court in which an old age assistance claim is filed.

Totally Disabled

The aid to the totally disabled increased slightly last year.

Aid was granted to 24 persons. Twelve new applications were received, of which six were granted aid and one was denied because of ineligibility. Five applications are pending.

Eight cases were closed.

Of the total of $23,116 in costs, $5,995 were payments to recipients and $17,121 for medical expenses. State and federal funds covered $16,165 leaving county cost at $6,950. This compares with a net cost of $5,369 in 1964.

Child Welfare

Department responsibilities in the areas of child welfare and juvenile court service include services to deprived children, pre-hearing studies for children referred to juvenile court, study and licensing of foster homes, protecting the interests of illegitimate children, assisting parents of physically or mentally handicapped children and adoption studies for the court.

Of the 166 children under care last year, 74 cases were the result of neglect with all being supervised [illegible] homes, 39 delinquents with 12 supervised on court order from prior years and 17 studies made for juvenile court in 1965. 11 [illegible] 21 with legal custody transferred to the department, six under care in cost in 1964.

foster homes with placement agreement from the parents; five born out of wedlock; seven mentally or physically handicapped; 10 granted financial service only; three adoption studies and two other studies for the court.

Payments totaled $1,805 which includes $1,491 for care in private institutions; $270 for medical care and $43 for foster care.

At year's end, 15 foster home permits are in effect.

Family Counseling

In addition to administration of social security aids, the department provided family counseling service to 13 families and individuals. It also investigated 44 applications for student loans and conducted eight studies on legal settlement of institution patients. Nine investigations were conducted on state dependents cases referred to the county. A total of 31 reports were prepared on applicants for the Calumet County Homestead.

A total of 112 persons have been certified as eligible for payments since the program went into effect. At the end of 1965 there were 66 active certifications. Some changes are anticipated in this program as well as the medical care aspects of the old age assistance program when the Medicare program goes into effect. However, the extent of the department's involvement in the Medicare program is not yet known.

Support funds received and expended by the department include payments made by parents for the care and support of children and payments received for the support of dependent adults.

Fourteen support accounts and nine trust accounts were active during the year.

Support Payments

Total funds for support payments were $8,693 while funds for paternity adjudication amounted to $3,302. The year ended with a balance on hand of $822.

An additional part-time caseworker was added during the year as well as a part-time typist.

Administrative costs for the year totaled $32,893, of which $26,361 went for salaries and per diem expenses of board members, $2,967 for travel expenses, $2,540 for employe benefit plans, $1,090 for supplies and [illegible] $902 for equipment and $33 for miscellaneous expenses. Of this total, $21,685 was handled by state and federal reimbursement, leaving a net county cost of $12,208, a slight increase over the $11,570 in 1964.

Interest in Regional Airport Still Strong

Commission Assures Action In Marathon County Project

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The state aeronautics department doesn't want the officials and residents of Portage and Marathon Counties to get the notion that it has lost its zealous interest in the development of a new regional airport for the north central part of the Wisconsin River Valley region.

Informed Friday by a representative of North Central Airlines that the communities involved fear that "they are being road-blocked" and that the state is not truly concerned about the proposal for a new major airport that will probably cost at least $2,700,000, the commission reacted promptly.

It scheduled for action at its next meeting in February a motion to contribute some state funds for the land acquisition budget of the project near Mosinee, in Marathon County.

Worried About Slack

"We're doing everything we can to help," said T. K Jordan, director of the agency, after Norman Herro of the airline said his firm is worried about a slackening of activity among the local officials about prosecuting the airport development plan

Commission discussion indicated that the local elected officials are chary about the size of the cost estimates for the project

Under the state-federal-local cost sharing arrangements, the two sponsoring counties would be required to provide 25 per cent of the land acquisition, engineering, and construction budget Herro suggested some "overt" encouragement from the state agency, whereupon Ted Cole of Cashton, a member of the commission, offered the motion for a 10 per cent land cost contribution

Long - Discussed Plan

The Mosinee regional airport plan has been under discussion for half a dozen years Originally it was thought that Wood County would also join as a sponsor, but the county board declined in spite of the fact that the new airport would also serve passengers from Marshfield and Wisconsin Rapids.

Herro said his firm is concerned about a low-down on the airport project because the facility will be a key terminal when it inaugurates jet plane service in 1967.

Water Carnival Head Selected

Fremont Chamber Starts Work on June Event, Hears Reports

FREMONT — Lester Koepp has been appointed chairman of the Chamber of Commerce sponsored water carnival, succeeding Arthur Hahn, previously appointed chairman

Golden Valley Amusement Rides has been contracted for the event scheduled for June 24, 25 and 26

Mrs Jack Abraham was reappointed assistant to the newly elected secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, Melvin Maierhafer. In her report at the Thursday evening meeting she said most letters received by the Chamber asked about vacation facilities of the area and descriptions of property available for purchase

A study of Chamber membership showed paid membership from every area was high, but attendance at the meetings was unsatisfactorily low. Arthur Sebstead member of the board of directors suggested that area farmers be invited to join

The annual Chamber of Commerce Fisheree will be held at the Lake Partridge community bathing beach Feb. 6. If the ice is not safe enough for competing fishermen, the major prizes will be awarded by drawing that day at the beach.

Deductible Insurance Policies

State Insurance Commissioner Robert Haase recently encountered some rebukes when he suggested that one of the problems of comparatively high fire and other casualty insurance rates is the probability that there is a mild tendency toward larceny in the hearts of even the most civilized among us.

The head of the insurance supervision and regulation agency was discussing the current problems in fire insurance, which include substantial loss and high operating expense ratios which when combined have provided severe setbacks for some of the carriers. He noted that in Wisconsin in 1964, the last year for which the department has complete data, the fire loss ratio on homeowners' policies in the state as a whole amounted to 85 per cent. There was an expense of doing business ratio of 40 per cent added, which meant that the underwriters had a very poor year, indeed.

Mr Haase sensibly proposed, as far as we are concerned, that the underwriters inaugurate the deductible policy that is now standard and accepted in auto insurance and in other lines, including health and accident policies. The national government, he noted pertinently, also wrote a $40 deductible provision into the new medicare insurance program that it has offered.

Mr Haase suggests a $50 deductible provision for the insurance contracts, an idea that is already familiar to thousands of motorists. He noted that 75 per cent of the windstorm insurance claim damages were eliminated when a $50 deductible clause was offered in the windstorm insurance field. The explanation, of course, lies in the elimination of countless minor claims for small sums, which accumulate high expense ratios because the relatively small claim often requires as much administrative overhead expenditure as does the more substantial loss.

"It only stands to reason that if we expect to have our insurance pay for every broken window we have, every shingle that comes loose, every call we make at the doctor's office, every bottle of medicine that we need, every little burn on the rug, every scratch and dent in the automobile, our rates will be extremely high and will continue to go higher," as he put it.

He could have mentioned, moreover, that the insurance buyer is best protected when the company with which he is insured is solvent. The commissioner has made a useful contribution to public knowledge of an important, but not always clearly understood topic.

Representation by Telephone

We don't know what the people of the home district of Rep. George Grider, a Tennessee Democrat, are like, but we've got an idea he may have done something for which he will be sorry.

Rep Grider announced a free telephone hookup between his offices in Memphis and Washington for any constituents for two hours a week.

He says the service will be available for two hours every Monday on a first-come, first-served basis.

"I discovered there were dozens of people who wanted to talk with me personally about any number of things," Grider says. "A telephone chat will be the next best thing to a personal visit."

We hope (and expect) that the congressman's special telephone hangs up like any other telephone.

Even in Tennessee there may be people who don't entirely agree with their congressman.

We wouldn't mind seeing a similar arrangement from Fox Valley congressmen, but we aren't very optimistic that they, or any other representatives in the nation will follow this example.

Two hours is a lot of telephone call, especially on a Monday.

Equal Rights?

Like most states, Wisconsin has statutes dealing with what is usually called statutory rape, the act of sexual intercourse with a female under the state set "age of consent." The lack of reality in some of these laws is now under attack by a Nebraska lawyer.

The trouble in some cases, as Attorney Larry Myers writes in the Michigan Law Review, is that the man so charged sincerely believes the girl involved to be over the statutory age either because she has said so or because she appears to be. In a recent such case in California, the state Supreme Court overturned a conviction because of a California law which exonerates criminal acts committed "under an ignorance or mistake of fact which disproves any criminal intent." In some way certainly the indictment of a man for statutory rape when he believed the woman to be beyond the age of consent is like indicting someone for marrying a person bigamously or for another reason prohibited by law when the information was not known and there was no reasonable way it could be.

Wisconsin's laws on the subject are more reasonable than those in some states where the age of consent is set at 21. So, too, are the penalties, considerably less than states which actually can give life sentences or 99 years in prison. A man found guilty of having sexual intercourse with anyone under 18 can be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisoned not more than 5 years. If the girl is under 16, the penalty can go to 15 years, and if the girl is under 12 and the man is 18 or older, imprisonment is up to 30 years. Obviously there should be a considerable difference if the girl involved is 17 or a child of ten.

Nevertheless, there is some unreality about putting the entire blame upon the male participant in this decade. High school age girls are or should be as knowledgeable about sex as are boys. Certainly in some cases they are the instigators of the affairs. Moreover, most authorities agree that the young man in his late teens and early twenties is under far greater sexual pressure than a girl of the same age and obviously must overcome more.

Obviously laws must be on the books and enforced to protect children and young girls from sexual perverts, the immoral or amoral. But there seems to be a certain amount of injustice in making the man only responsible in these days of female emancipation.

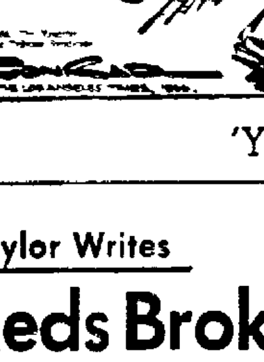
Reds Broke Every Clause of 1954 Cease-Fire Agreement in Viet Nam

BY HENRY J. TAYLOR

While President Johnson appeals for a cease-fire in South Viet Nam, who has ever heard of Brig. Gen. George Delteil? Well, he's the man who signed the last one. Or the second-to-last one, rather.

At 3 42 a m on July 21, 1954, in Geneva, Switzerland, North



Taylor

Vietnamese Defense Minister Ta Quan Buu, a Peking-trained tarantula, agreed to stop the fighting.

I heard him speak of "peaceful coexistence." But he sat there like a man hypnotized by absolute power and you could hear the true fanatic in Buu's shrill, defiant scream.

In the cease-fire agreement with the French the Communists guaranteed to withdraw all Red forces north of the 17th parallel within 100 days.

DUG IN DEEPER

They never withdrew any. The talks had gone on for three months while the Communits dug in deeper and deeper.

The cease-fire established a buffer zone. But the Reds refused "on site" inspection exactly as they did later in Cuba and in the limited nuclear test treaty. And they never got out of the buffer zone.

North and South Viet Nam, which resulted from the agreement, must both forego military alliances. The Communists did not need an alliance. They were, as today, an integral part of the Red plunge into Southeast Asia.

Each must halt the import of foreign arms. The Reds merely hid their ammunition in the thatched walls, their plastic bombs in the booby-trapped barns, their bazookas in the village wells. They did not even pause in practice of chopping off a finger of a hostage held for ransom and sending it to his family to prove they had him.

Free elections must unite the nation by July, 1956. These would be supervised by Polish, Indian and Canadian observers. Five months from now this date will be 10 years overdue.

Not one of the provisions was ever carried out.

Instead, the Communists next mounted a full-blown offensive in the wet, green overfoliaged area that became Laos, attacking like the troops of monkeys that run up and down the trees and screech crazily from bough to bough.

When that area felt the first heavy breaches of the cease-fire President Kennedy stirred our country by his Telstar TV defiance of the violation, announcing that the United States would never permit a Red-dominated Laos.

He pointed out, correctly, that Laos flanks Viet Nam, that a Red Laos would open the door to a Red Viet Nam, probably a Red Cambodia and Thailand as well, and most of Southeast Asia. Mr. Kennedy summoned America and the whole free world to rally to his words. We must repel this aggression. We must not allow the Red aggressor a sancuary in Laos.

THEN CAME ANOTHER

But we were Humpty-Dumpty. We arranged another cease-fire conference, the previous cease-fire one not having ceased the fire. Presidential representative Averell Harriman brought 14 countries into these talks, again at Geneva, and Secretary of State Dean Rusk flew there to sign the accord as if an agreement were not already in existence.

The protocol "guaranteed" Laos' "independence and neutrality" but it was so apparent that it did nothing of the sort that at the end Mr. Harriman even stated in Geneva "Laos isn't too important, after all."

Yet then, as now, no military man alive knew or knows how we can contain the Communists in Viet Nam without likewise fighting in Laos—which we are now doing.

When Brig Gen. George Delteil and Ta Quang Buu scrawled their names Red China Premier Chou En-lai pronounced the cease-fire agreement "a tremendous success." So did Ho Chi Minh.

When the re-agreement was signed they both said the same thing, all over again. And of course they were right, both times.

President Johnson's problem, which is our nation's problem, is not how to get still another cease-fire agreement. The problem is to have it mean anything. All comment that avoids this point merely crowns the problem in confusion.

Lack of Master Plan For Higher Education Irritates Legislators

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON, Wis — Embittered comments of several of the principal members of the State Building Commission at its last meeting addressed to some of the top officials of the higher education institutions reflected more than a frustration about the towering responsibility for financing the unprecedented costs of expansion. They showed also an increasing suspicion that the educational managers are not always candid or respectful in their dealings with the elected men who hold the purse strings and who are responsible to their taxpaying constituents for how they handle them.

Illustrative was the coldly polite comment of Assemblyman Glen Pommerening of Wauwatosa, the vice chairman of the commission, and one of the hardest working legislators in the system. Pommerening is also one of the most friendly politicians in the system, as the school administrators must admit. Yet he deliberately read from the minutes of the commission at a 1959 meeting, seven years earlier, on the question of controlling expenditure inflation by the adjustment of the teaching calendars of the schools through such an innovation as the trimester system.

Under all ordinary circumstances, such a directive from the financing authority would have been a mandate. But, said Pommerening acidly, the idea was blandly ignored altogether.

BUSINESS AS USUAL

What is obviously irritating these elected officials, on both sides of the political aisle, is the assumption of the educational leaders that building and operating appropriations must be expanded at will, while the institutions otherwise continue to do business as usual. The other day the members of the commission were given a memorandum on the probable need in the future for imposing limits upon the numbers of nonresidents who can be accommodated in Wisconsin tax-supported schools, thousands of them representing states in which their own taxpayers are unwilling to make the arrangements to provide educational opportunity at home.

The question of the state's obligations to sons and daughters of residents of other parts of the country has intruded ever more prominently into budget discussions during the last decade. But the educational administrators with equal persistence have sought to shove it aside. Not yet, for example, has there been developed a formula for determining how much the state is subsidizing such non-resident higher education. The fact that the officials in the systems are unwilling to hurry about finding out is also annoying the politicians on the firing line.

PLANNING?

There is a good deal of talk about long-range planning in higher education. The naked eye of the most innocent outsider can see that here is the big and probably uncontrollable financial problem for the state government in the future. Is there a genuine long-range plan? The officials say there is. But the politicians say they haven't found it.

Manifestly, the establishment of new campus branches and new four-year institutions relates to decisions about the size to which the existing schools will be permitted to grow. But such decisions have not been made. The creation of new extension centers and branches has tended to follow pressure, rather than a deliberate design. Reversals of objectives are decided upon in strategic situations, such as the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, which was planned as a commuter school but has now moved in an opposite direction.

Many of these are perhaps aspects of a dilemma that are inevitable and that the most imaginative and foresighted men could not have avoided. There was a time when the educational establishment could proceed in the confidence that resistance in one party would bring about countermanding intervention in another. But the signs today are that there is an impatience and a doubt and an irritation in both political parties about drift and equivocation among the men in the responsible operating offices of the educational revolution.

Looking Backward

Punish Those Sleigh-Hitchers!

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Jan. 27, 1866.

We have hitherto neglected to mention a nuisance that has "been going its lengths" long enough. That is the practice of a pack of boys catching upon every sleigh and cutter that is driven through the streets.

Many of these boys are quite old enough to know better. But those that are not should be made to feel the genial influence of "higher powers." Other towns of this size or even smaller villages have ordinances preventing anything of this kind. As we have not, we call the attention of our worthy Aldermen to the matter.

With all due respect to our Surgical fraternity who have in this practice prospective cases of broken legs and arms, and rich fees following, the thing has gone on long enough to have a top stop put to it.

If they fail to take the hint, we should advise our farmers and teamsters generally to use the remaining argument of a stout cowhide without further ceremony.

25 YEARS AGO

Monday, Jan. 20, 1941.

Franklin Delano Roosevelt took his third presidential oath that day before a crowd of 75,000 persons. The President declared that "our strong purpose is to protect and perpetuate the integrity of democracy." John Nance Garner closed his 38-year congressional career as he gave the oath of office to his vice presidential successor Henry Agard Wallace.

Norton J. Williams, Neenah, was elected president of the Wisconsin Fraternal Congress at a weekend convention in Milwaukee. G. A. Comstock, Neenah, was elected secretary-treasurer.

Alfred Bradford, Appleton, member of the building committee, was to act as master of ceremonies at the cornerstone laying of the new Outagamie County courthouse the next morning.

10 YEARS AGO

Monday, Jan. 23, 1956.

New officers of the Appleton Visiting Nurse Association were Mrs. H. H. Helbie, president; Mrs. Joseph Foley, first vice president, Mrs. Donald Hovde, second vice president; Mrs. Richard Radsch, secretary, and Mrs. Dexter Wolfe, treasurer.

John Gall was general chairman of the 1956 Business and Industrial Forum sponsored by the Appleton YMCA.

James Kimberly of Neenah and Chicago was named president of the Sports Car Club of America. He was elected at the 12th annual meeting of the 7,000-member organization, meeting in Detroit.

Mrs. Silas Spengler, Menasha, was elected to the board of trustees of the Women's Auxiliary of the Wisconsin State Historical Society.

Expensive 'Bubbly' Auctioned in London

LONDON (AP) — Three cases of champagne auctioned at the Sporting Club in London's Knightsbridge raised 300 guineas ($882) for Red Cross funds. It was non-vintage Lanson Black Label.

"That's 8 pounds 15 shillings ($22.40) a bottle making it just about the most expensive bubbly in London," commented Capt. Mark Cogley, licencee of the Goat Tavern in Mayfair.

"The ordinary retail price of such a bottle is just over 30 shillings ($4.20)."

The buyers of the champagne insisted on anonymity.

Engaged as Teens Couple Marries as Octogenarians

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Teen-agers Josephine Smith and Thomas Zack Hayes became engaged at the turn of the century. They were married Oct. 3.

The couple went their separate ways after the engagement was broken in their hometown of Smyrna, Tenn. Hayes became a farmer at Enid, Okla. Josephine married in Tennessee.

As the years passed, Hayes' wife died. So did Josephine's husband.

They rekindled the romance when they met again last April.

Mrs. Hayes, now 81, said, "Marriage makes you younger. We don't feel our age."

"She is so right," grinned Hayes, 83.

Many She Has Helped Wish Mrs. Hyre Well

Editor, Post-Crescent:

I might write a better letter if I were a college graduate, but I am not, nor is my wife. We both work and have a daughter who is studying typing and is typing this for me. Our son is waiting for his call into the armed services. You see we are just an average family.

I am writing this because I believe that your paper has not known of or just overlooked carrying a few words on a certain matter. I refer to the recent retirement of a person who is very well known and admired in this city. This person is a petite, attractive, energetic and friendly little person and her name is a [illegible] — Mae I. Hyre. She was with the State Employment office in Appleton for 25 or 30 years and during that time has listened to and advised and helped thousands of people with their problems and into securing all kinds of work. In my own case I came to her and [illegible] was working three [illegible] and did not seem to be getting ahead, so I wanted to [illegible] she made some suggestions, one of which was to consider additional training in addition to my practical experience, and remarked further that really Appleton could not be improved upon. I stayed on my job, put in some hours at the Vocational School, and I am happy to say I now have a day time job and am classified as a foreman.

I have overheard some conversations and talked with lots of people — laborers, truck drivers, shop men, sales and office folks, and two Employment Directors and they all have admiring and kindly things to say about this little lady.

Since there is no way to express ourselves not even thru an ad I have been urged to write this because many now miss her and will continue to do so for some time.

So on behalf of many, including myself, I wish to say — thank you, Mrs. Hyre, and may you enjoy many happy years of retirement, which you so richly deserve.

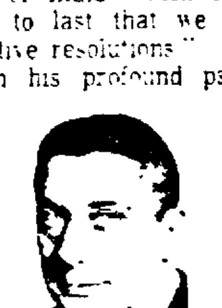
Good Resolutions Are Often Like Bad Checks

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Reading about New Year's resolutions a few weeks ago, I thought of one of Proust's best aphorisms in his great novel: "It is always because of a state of mind which is not going to last that we make definitive resolutions."

With his profound psycho-



Harris

[illegible] insight Proust realized that the very urgency of a condition that drives us to make a resolution is the same [illegible] that will permit us to break the resolution when the condition has changed.

Illness, danger and threats of punishment are, of course, classic examples of what he meant. When we are seriously ill we vow to change our way of living if we recover. In times of peril, or when we face exposure for some misdeed, we resolve never again to behave as foolishly or recklessly or illegally as we had.

But these are precisely the [illegible] Please let me escape [illegible] this one time and I'll be a good boy forever.

Resolutions, to be effective and meaningful, should be made at exactly the opposite times: when things are going well, when stability and harmony and health and prosperity have combined to give us strength of purpose. For we do not keep promises made when we are weak; we keep only those made when we are strong.

When a marriage, for instance, is disintegrating (sometimes against the wishes of both parties) the couple will often make a last desperate effort to reconstitute the relationship: they vow to themselves and to each other that they will change their attitudes and reactions and conduct.

Such resolutions, however, usually come too late, for they are made out of weakness. The time to make them is when there seems to be little need for them—when love is strong and seemingly secure. Vows regularly renewed at such times have deep force behind them, because they spring out of gratitude and not out of fear, hysteria or panic.

"Good resolutions," Wilde remarked in one of his comedies, "are simply checks that men draw on a bank where they have no account." We wait until the account is exhausted or even overdrawn, before we draw such a check, and naturally the resolution has nothing to back it up. Our resolutions should be testaments to our good fortune, not blackmail payments to some threatening genie of doom.

Great Society

The "Great Society" programs actually are being stepped up by more than $3 billion, Johnson said, but in several cases — chiefly in housing and education programs — private lending is being substituted for direct federal support

Moreover, a number of "Great Society" programs have been trimmed below the maximum spending rates authorized by Congress, Johnson reported

If peace is achieved in Viet Nam these domestic programs can rapidly be increased, he said

"If, on the other hand, events in Southeast Asia so develop that additional funds are required, I will not hesitate to request the necessary sums," Johnson said

"And should that contingency arise, or should unforeseen inflationary pressures develop, I will propose such fiscal actions as are appropriate to maintain economic stability."

The President thus left the door ajar for a possible later request for a general tax increase

Best Judgment

The present spending estimates, he said, merely "reflect the best judgment which can be made at this point in time," the ultimate budget figures "could be either higher or lower than the amounts I am now requesting."

"The budget for 1967 bears the strong imprint of the troubled world we live in," he said. "If our efforts to secure an honorable peace bear fruit, these funds need not be spent.

"Yet it would be folly to present a budget which inadequately provided for the military and economic costs sustaining our forces in Viet Nam. And those costs are substantial."

For Congress members, there was little shock impact left in today's budgetary bundle. Most of the towering totals had been let out in driblets by Johnson or by his aides in recent weeks.

But the full cost of Viet Nam did become visible, clearly and officially. It comes to $15.2 billion in the two years covered by the message — $4.7 billion in fiscal 1966, which ends next June 30 and $10.5 billion in fiscal 1967.

Current Year

It became clear too that the current fiscal year's budget — estimated at $99.7 billion by Johnson a year ago — would have pushed up past the $100 billion spending mark regardless of Viet Nam.

Outlays for 1966 now are estimated at $106.4 billion. Revenues are now reckoned at $100 billion, or $5.5 billion more than anticipated. That will leave a red-ink gap of $6.4 billion when the government year ends next June 30.

For 1967 the spending and income estimates — $112.8 billion and $111 billion respectively — leave a surprisingly low deficit of $1.8 billion in prospect.

National Output

But that forecast is based on the assumption that the business boom, which will pass its fifth birthday in a few weeks, will continue to roll up record income, profits and tax collections for another year.

Johnson predicted total national output of $722 billion in 1966, up more than $46.8 billion from last year. Personal income will rise more than $36 billion to a record $567 billion, he forecast.

He predicted corporation profits will rise from $74.6 billion last year to $80 billion — with the government tax collector taking nearly half of every billion.

The president reminded Congress of his forecast of two years ago that the 1964 tax cut would lead to a balanced budget in a prospering economy.

"Barring the then unforeseen costs we are incurring in Southeast Asia, the forecast remains a correct one," he said.

Three Cuts

The government's cash budget — which shows the income and outgo of the Social Security System and other government-held trust funds — actually will show a surplus of about $500 million in fiscal 1967.

That means cash outlays of the government, at $145 billion, will be $500 million less than the government takes from the public. Over-all government operations, in other words, will be slightly anti-inflationary in total impact.

Johnson said that budget-chopping had eliminated or curtailed many lower-priority programs. But only three of the major categories of spending showed cuts — space, agriculture and transportation.

Agriculture dropped $900 million to $3.4 billion — a figure which does not include the $1.5 billion Food for Peace program and some other programs in the department's custody. Commerce and transportation were down $500 million to $2.7 billion.

Increases in other areas of government activity ranged from about $100 million up and produced these totals.

International affairs and finance, $4.2 billion, natural resources, $3.1 billion, housing and community development $100 million, health, labor and welfare, $10 billion, education $2.8 billion, general government $2.6 billion, and contingencies $400 million.

Johnson asked a $35-million appropriation to launch the rent subsidy program which Congress approved in 1965 but did not finance.

1967 Spending

Only $3 million of that sum actually would be spent in 1967, Johnson said, because of the time lag in launching the system of rent supplements for low-income families in housing owned by nonprofit organizations.

Among other housing programs the largest increase was for urban renewal outlays were expected to total $413 million, up $51 million from 1966.

In the "war on poverty," Johnson said, programs to promote self-help will be stressed. More than a million children from poorer families will be aided in the several youth programs, and about 250,000 adults will receive job training or other help.

For foreign aid outlays of $3.4 billion were proposed, about the same as this year. Johnson asked Congress to give a five-year authorization for the programs administered by the Agency for International Development.

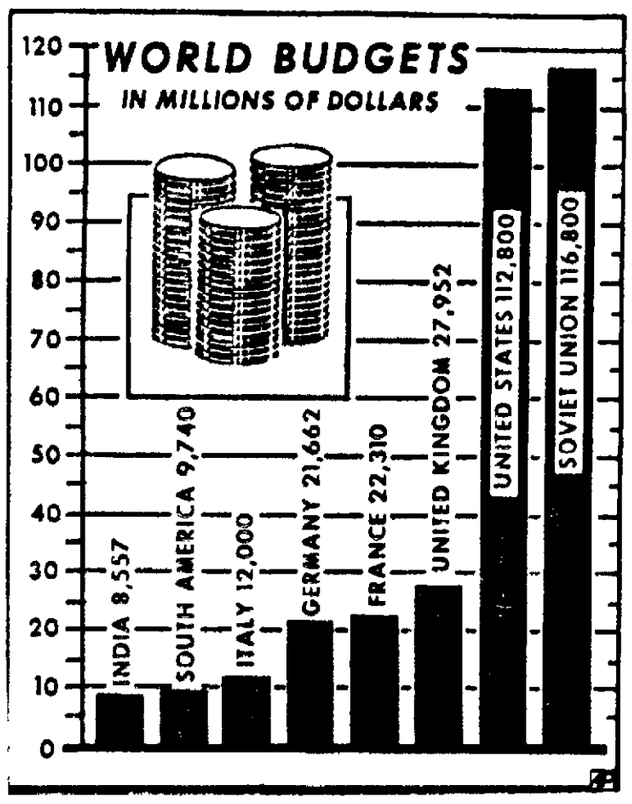
Military Aid

That agency would have $2.2 billion for 1967, up about $100 million from this year. Military aid, at $1.2 billion, would be about $100 million lower.

The Food for Peace program, a separate item, is budgeted for $1.5 billion. Johnson said the total is below this year's and the program's emphasis will be altered. More stress will be laid on the type of aid which will enable the recipient countries to "eventually lessen their dependence on food aid from the United States."

The President said he will propose a joint government-industry program to build the prototype of a "safe and commercially profitable" supersonic civilian transport plane.

Largely because of research and development spending for that craft, outlays for the Federal Aviation Agency will rise from $800 million this year to $840 million in 1967.



A Comparison Is Drawn between the U. S. 1967 budget estimate and the Soviet Union's 1967 fiscal budget to those of other countries and the entire continent of South America, in millions of dollars.

for an increase in the number of the Navy's Polaris missiles launched from submarines, and Air Force Minutemen.

These will move the arsenal toward the goal of 1,000 intercontinental ballistic missiles for the Air Force and 656 Polaris missiles for the Navy by the end of fiscal 1967.

Johnson said the strategic forces are sufficient for deterring nuclear attack or responding to it "with a margin of safety to spare."

He wrote: "In 1967, we will (1) continue to improve the effectiveness and survivability of our strategic forces, (2) further modernize our conventional war forces by increasing their firepower, mobility and ability to fight for extended periods; and (3) press ahead vigorously with the research and development programs needed to provide the weapons and defenses of the future."

Critical Stockpile

The $57.15 billion for purely military functions compares with an estimated expenditure of $52.92 billion in the current year. When atomic energy, stockpiling of critical materials, operation of the selective service system and other items are added, the over-all defense-related spending total proposed for next year is $60.54 billion.

Paramount Objectives

"The expenditure increases in 1966 and 1967," Johnson said, "primarily reflect the heightened conflict in Viet Nam, which has resulted in more U.S. forces there and in increased use and consumption of combat equipment, supplies and ammunition. Certain other factors, such as the substantial raise in military pay enacted by the last session of Congress, also account for a portion of these changes."

He said: "The national defense effort this year and in the year to come is heavily influenced by two paramount objectives. The first objective is to provide whatever forces and equipment are needed to help South Viet Nam retain its independence. The second is to maintain and improve our balanced strategic and conventional war forces.

Emphasis will be placed on antisubmarine warfare, Johnson said. This, like the new atomic carrier, has been another goal of the Navy.

The budget calls for building 10 new destroyer escorts and five new atomic-powered attack submarines. By the end of fiscal 1967 the Navy would have 40 atomic-powered attack submarines in operation compared with 24 by the end of next June.

Navy, Marines

The Navy's spending would be $17.05 billion compared with $15.46 billion this year. This will include expenditures by the Marine Corps which is preparing to create another division.

Air Force spending would be $19.80 billion compared with $19.76 billion this year.

Aircraft procurement would go up for all three services. The Air Force would spend $3.7 billion, the Navy $2.1 billion, the Army $854 million. Emphasis will be on procurement of helicopters, a prime requirement in the jungle war of Viet Nam.

Air Force and Navy planes accounted for 72 combat sorties in the hours after the cease-fire a U S spokesman said They blasted 152 buildings, damaged 80 and sank eight sampans The U S Military Assistance Command emphasized that all the strikes were coordinated with South Vietnamese province chiefs

However, U S planes made no move to resume air action against North Viet Nam as the bombing pause entered the 32nd day In Washington Secretary of State Dean Rusk said Sunday night that no decision had been made yet to resume the raids, but from other sources indications came that President Johnson would decide this week whether to resume the bombing

Repeat Determination

Another Hanoi broadcast repeated the Viet Cong's determination to fight as long as the United States refuses to accept Communist terms for peace talks These include withdrawal of U S forces from Viet Nam

The Peking People's Daily called the U S bombing suspension a "ridiculous farce" An editorial in the Red Chinese party organ broadcast by Radio Peking added "The Chinese people are convinced that the Vietnamese people, steeled for 20 years in the flames of anti-imperialist struggle, will certainly fight with redoubled effort and smash the Johnson administration's war extension plan"

U S Air Force and South Vietnamese planes flew leaflet-dropping missions over North Viet Nam last Wednesday and Thursday as part of the propaganda campaign by both sides during the holiday season

American officials said 10 million leaflets wishing the North Vietnamese a Happy New Year were dropped on the coastal area near the border with the south Wednesday and 7,500 gift parcels for children were rained down in the same area the following day The packages contained sweaters, toys diaries, needles, buttons and greeting cards.

papers drifting down from Mont Blanc

"It looked like a bunch of leaflets dropped by planes," he said. "They came down all around I called the police"

Police said the papers were fragments of letters with Indian postmarks

The wreckage was reported sighted near the Vallot Refuge, a mountain hut used by climbers ascending the 15,781 foot peak Mountaineers said the hut is about an hour's walk from the summit of Mont Blanc and near a glacier

It was the second Air India plane to crash into Mont Blanc The first, a Constellation in 1950, also crashed near the Vallot Refuge, killing all persons aboard

After leaving India, the big jet had stopped at Beirut, Lebanon and was on its way to Geneva when it crashed. After the stopover in Geneva, it was to put down in Paris and London before flying the Atlantic

The flight was Air India's No AI-101, a spokesman for the airline said

Radio Contact

The Geneva airport said it had been in radio contact with the plane from the time it flew over Turin, Italy, but contact suddenly broke off at 8 02 a m — 2 02 a m EST

The crew of an Italian military plane flying over the mountain range reported a dark spot on the mountainside and thought it might be the wreckage of the Indian plane

An Italian rescue helicopter was sent to the Mont Blanc area from Turin, but officials said there were violent winds and heavy snowstorms in the mountains and the helicopter crew might not be able to see anything

The Mont Blanc massif extends 30 miles north from the Little St Bernard Pass along the French-Italian and French-Swiss borders It is 10 miles wide at its maximum and culminates in 15,781-foot Mont Blanc, Western Europe's highest peak, which is in France.

Burned papers were reported found on the mountainside 10 miles north of Courmayeur, Italy, on the Italian-French frontier, and Italian police set out through deep snow to check on the report

An Air India spokesman said eight of the passengers aboard the plane were bound for New York, 20 were ticketed to Geneva, 54 to Paris and 24 to London;

Congressmen Cautious With Johnson Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress received President Johnson's $112 8-billion budget today with reservations about the effect on domestic programs of any large-scale expansion of the Viet Nam war

Both Democrats and Republicans predicted the President's $57 15-billion defense budget will go virtually unassailed, but that his promise to come back for more money and new taxes if the conflict gets hotter will ignite a drive to curtail spending at home

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield forecast that,

For fiscal year ending June 30.

	In Billions 1966	1967
Spending	106.4	112.8
Income	100.0	111.0
Deficit	6.4	1.8
Debt at yearend	320.0	321.7

"Barring a flareup in the situation in Viet Nam, the over-all budget total is likely to be cut somewhat"

Mansfield said Johnson will get anything he needs to fight the war Sen George D Aiken of Vermont, dean of Republican senators, agreed and said "Events in Viet Nam will determine what Congress finally does about the budget"

Sen Spessard L Holland, D-Fla , said he was "pleased that the President has come face-to-face with the financial aspects of the Viet Nam war. The $12 7-billion supplmental request and the $60-billion new defense budget begin to show the people the tremendous costs of this undeclared war

"These costs will go higher and people should begin to think about and understand them," Spessard said.

Sen. Henry M Jackson, D-Wash , said "As of now, it would seem obvious that the funds requested for (the Viet Nam) conflict are minimal and would have to be increased" Jackson is a member of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy and the Senate Armed Services and Appropriations panels

Sen Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., said the budget "appears to be designed for deception and the levels of spending which it proposes in non-defense areas constitute fiscal irresponsibility.

"We are at war, and a very costly war, and therefore the responsible course would preclude initiation or expansion of non-defense programs," he added

If the Viet Nam conflict is escalated, said Sen John C Stennis, D-Miss , chairman of the Senate Preparedness subcommittee, "I don't think Congress is going to vote for all of the domestic spending the President has asked"

Sen Leverett Saltonstall, R-Mass , said he is going to look very closely at all domestic programs in an effort to prevent appropriations so great that revenues can't come close to matching them

Johnson asked for a $4 8-billion short term increase in income corporate and excise taxes to help hold the deficit for the fiscal year beginning July 1 to $1 8 billion

Rep Melvin R Laird of Wisconsin, chairman of the House Republican Conference, said however that the "real deficit" will be much larger. He said $4 billion in advance tax collections constitute only "a free loan to the government" and not any increase in permanent income.

Johnson's action in cutting back the space, agriculture and transportation programs provoked some complaints

Aiken said he questions a proposed $1 8-billion slice in Agriculture Department appropriations.

I think some savings can be made because the crop surpluses are going down, but not that much," he said.

Aid to Menominees

Indians Told to Work More to Improve Status

Post Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The Menominee people must work harder to improve their status, although state and federal assistance must be continued, the Menominee Indian Study Committee reported Wednesday

Otherwise, the group said, a dependent state will continue as programs and plans are developed by government officials rather than by the Menominees themselves

Only with increased responsibilities can independence from "wardship" be accomplished the report stated

After six years of work, the final report of the committee was filed in the state capitol Wednesday, in preparation for its presentation to the legislature in the May session

100-Page Study

The text almost 100 pages in length considers the economic, social and cultural conditions and prospects of Wisconsin's 72nd county, formed in 1961 from the former federal Menominee Indian reservation

Committee chairman Sen Reuben LaFave who said at the meeting that the group will continue to exist to deal with other continuing problems confronting the new county also revealed that it is negotiating with representatives of a carpet manufacturing firm for the establishment of a plant in Menominee County that will employ 75 to 80 area residents

Plans for the plant, similar to one in operation on a Kiowa Apache reservation in Oklahoma are nearly complete except for the commitment of land on which to build the factory facilities Federal aid is expected for the project he said Other details cannot be disclosed until all arrangements are completed LaFave said

Federal Shortcomings

The report indicates according to Hilary Waukau of Neopit a Menominee member of the study committtee that although the state has fulfilled its responsibilities to the county and to the Menominee tribe the federal government has yet to do so

Waukau also urged his fellow county residents to work for economic equality with the rest of the state's counties

"We realize that we cannot be the recipients of grants and aid forever," he said "We have to get off our haunches and get going All the people in the county have to show that we can keep the county going alone"

Waukau singled out the legislators who have served on the committee for special praise saying that they received criticism from their own constituents for spending too much time on the problems of another county Legislative members have been Sen LaFave of Oconto and assemblymen William Rogers of Kaukauna Herbert Grover of Shawano and Willis Hutnik of Ladysmith

Washington Meeting

The committee also authorized LaFave to meet with both Wisconsin senators and the 10 state representatives in a face to face meeting in Washington Of special concern at the meeting will be means of increasing federal assistance to the county Bills regarding this have been introduced by Sen Gaylord Nelson and Rep Melvin Laird of Marshfield and Henry Reuss of Milwaukee

"I am going to ask that they all attend the meeting in person" LaFave told the committee "I realize that they are busy but we have a major problem on our hands and we have to work out what we are going to do about it"

The study committee's report will be presented to the legislative council in February, and to the entire legislature in May

Clintonville Student in Mad Margaret Role of Gilbert-Sullivan Work

Lawrence Opera Theatre to Present 'Ruddigore' Arena Style for 3 Nights

When John Koopman's Lawrence University Opera Theatre opens its three-night run in Gilbert and Sullivan's boisterous "Ruddigore," Conservatory senior Sheila Pernot of Clintonville will be seen and heard in the famous role of Mad Margaret.

The famous burlesque of 19th century England and its melodrama opens Thursday at 8 p.m. in the experimental theater of Lawrence Music-Drama Center. The show plays through Saturday night.

Koopman, professor of music at Lawrence Conservatory, directs the witty and musical piece, another fact that will delight Gilbert and Sullivan fans as well as other music lovers and theatergoers. He's the founder-mentor of the University opera group which has blossomed in its short life from workshop status to a real opera theater.

Other student members in the production are Kort Ploshay, Hinsdale, Ill.; John French, Edina, Minn.; Thomas Eastman, Edgerton; Christopher

Koopman

Cone, St. Paul, Minn.; Karen Hicks, Western Springs, Ill.; Alice Haselden, Evanston, Ill.; Jane Westendorf, Withee; Susan Gillerman, St. Louis, Mo.; and James Snodgrass, Lake Forest, Ill.

Others Assisting

Kathleen Link, Michigan City, Ind., is piano accompanist. Stephen Blair, Winchester, Mass., stage manager, and Mary Beldo, Marquette, Mich., assistant to the director.

Choruses of soldiers, ancestors, professional bridesmaids and villagers are composed of the Lawrence Singers under the baton of LaVahn Maesch.

"Ruddigore," subtitled "The Witch's Curse," is a hilarious burlesque of English melodrama in the late 19th century. It was first produced, with modest success, at the Savoy Theatre, London, in January, 1887. "Modest" success to Gilbert and Sullivan meant a string of 288 evening performances which netted its authors some 7,000 English pounds.

The opera saw a revival under the D'Oyly Carte management in 1921, and a second revival at Sadler's Wells Theatre in 1949.

Cheerful Satire

"Ruddigore's" plot is typically Gilbertian with sailors, farmers and noblemen—to say nothing of rosy-cheeked maidens—arrayed in a topsy-turvy world of satire and cheerful melody.

It is a slightly mad tale of bad baronets and ghosts embellished with the improbable likes of a Mad Margaret, Rose Maybud, Richard Dauntless, Robin Oakapple, and a corps of village bridesmaids.

Gilbert's ingenuity with its libretto elicits as much laughter today as in his own time. Generally speaking, "Ruddigore's" lyrics are bright and metrical, which of course makes them the perfect foil to Sullivan's rhythmic inventiveness. Sullivan, in fact, thought of the opera as one of his best efforts.

Famous Roles

Certainly it gave considerable fame to a number of the preeminent Gilbert and Sullivan performers of this century and the 19th, among them Jessie Bond, creator of the role of Mad Margaret; Charles Gouding, whose racy nautical jargon made him seem the very essence of the British tar in the role of Dick Dauntless, and Martyn Green, probably the best known G & S interpreter of our day, as Robin Oakapple.

Arranging Her Hair on location is actress Bibi Andersson, Swedish newcomer to American films and Hollywood. Miss Andersson achieved fame as a leading lady in Ingmar Bergman's Swedish films. Her first Hollywood movie is "Duel of Diablo," currently being made on the windy desert in Utah, near Kanab. (AP Wirephoto)

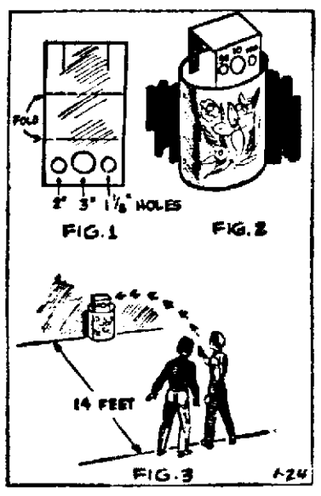
Play a Bottle Cap Game With Equipment Made by Hand

BY CAPPY DICK

The props for the party game for boys and girls are easy to find around the house. They consist of a wastebasket, a piece of cardboard such as a shirt board from the laundry, and a supply of bottle caps.



Toss the bottle caps.

The wastebasket and the cardboard are to be turned into a target. Figure 1 shows how to prepare the cardboard by cutting three holes near one end, cutting two slits at the other end and folding it twice.

Mark the holes with point values, making the two-inch hole worth 50 points, the three-inch hole worth 10 points and the smallest hole worth 100 points.

Fit the folded cardboard into the top of the wastebasket where the flap formed by the slits will hold it as shown in Figure 2.

The players, each equipped with 10 bottle caps, stand a considerable distance from the wastebasket which is placed against a wall (a distance of 24 feet is suggested in Figure 3). Each player tosses his 10 bottle caps, one at a time, trying to have them pass through the holes in the cardboard. For any one that does so, he wins the point value of that hole.

The player with the most points after all have had 10 tosses is the winner.

Making the Las Vegas Scene

'Gamblers' With a Thirst for winning gathered around the roulette wheel set up after dinner in the Elks Club dining room Saturday evening. Below, Mrs. Norbert Ambrosius hands out an envelope of 'money' to Mr. and Mrs. Syl Thiel as they turn in their dinner tickets. (Post-Crescent Photos)

The old advice 'Go West' meant only west of College Avenue Saturday evening as members and guests of Appleton Elks Lodge 337 traveled to 'Las Vegas' for their annual gambling run. Members put on their vests and eyeshades to supervise the games, including roulette, pin wheel, horse racing, black jack, craps and other card games.

'Money' to stake players was issued with dinner tickets, and many of the gamblers wound up with more 'dough' than they could carry.

For those who preferred less competitive activity, there was dancing until 1 a.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Grossman were party chairmen. Assisting them were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Liethen, Mr. and Mrs. Louis LaSalle, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Earl, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Horn, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Ragus, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Schumacher, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Ulman Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Donald Samsa, Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Ambrosius, Mr and Mrs Syl Thiel, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Weber, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Schampers, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lewis and Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Spector.

Vincent Schampers Threw the dice as party-goers Joseph Gabriel and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Golper waged best bets on the point at one of the Elks Club games. At left, a quieter pursuit, poker, was played by Robert Manlove, Mrs. Lester Ulman and Ben Ragus. Below, waiting for the wheel to stop, are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lewis and Howard Bowlby.

Designers Show for The 'Complete' Woman

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

ROME (AP) — "The complete look" is the way every Italian designer describes his spring and summer collection in the Rome showings now under way.

To him it means that hair, eyes, hats, scarves, gloves, blouses, dresses, coats, jackets, stockings and shoes have been put together to arrive at the dream girl picture he has in mind.

To the woman buying it means that if she wants to achieve the effect of the designer's creation, she ought to put herself together in much the same fashion.

To the man paying it means a lot of bills for shoes that will go only with one outfit for a dress that can be worn with only one companion coat, for a hat destined for only one outfit.

Naturally, each designer has several "complete looks" in mind for day, for informal occasions, and for a sophisticated social life.

Complete Sportive

Emilio Pucci's active, sportive girl in his collection shown Thursday night, for example, had this "complete look": rounded eyes with dark eye shadow, hair with a boyish cowlick over one eye and short but with the ear bared on the other side, slightly belled pastel cashmere trousers, T-shirts, short cropped jackets over these (and an extra skirt to alternate with the pants) as well as special pastel shoes built high around the ankles.

The complete look for Pucci's daytime costume girl was hair slicked back under a dome hat with soft roll brim in the same vivid shade as the costume, a coat of contrasting patterns which could be worn only with a sheath dress of the same pattern contrasts, pale hosiery and boot-like shoes to match the suits.

By evening, Pucci's girls should be wearing chains of hair like the paper circles kiddies loop together in nursery schools. They should have shoes of the same jungle floral print as their tights and the jewel-embroidered hip length jackets over them. Or they should be wearing evening apparel with sleeveless, floor-sweeping coats meant only to be worn together.

Pucci's black and white printed vinyl raincoat had its own raindress with a sunback for improved weather, as well as matching boots

Fabiani Thursday night wrapped the heads of his stormy weather models in practical babushkas.

The hat shape Fabiani approved for the short jackets over special sheaths of the same color was a straw bowler with a small pie slice out of the back brim. For shoes, he chose high boots with buckles in hues to match the costumes.

At Schuberth's the models dressed in hip-sashed clothes reminiscent of the early '20s. Their shoes matched.

For day the look for Sarli was a straw hat with a brim dipped low over the forehead. The long jacket cut to a V to meet the waist had to be worn with "the" dress under it, and only that.

At Patrick de Barentzen's, the models with short-fringed hair wore white galore to accent the rich reds, greens and blues.

White bags were strapped to models' shoulders. The hats, straw brimmed breions or felt fedoras, were usually the same color as their scarves. Their stockings were white. Their shoes, sometimes two-tone, were meant only for the De Barentzen costume.

Because it is a shame to wear a beautiful dress or blouse without anyone seeing it, Titta Rossi cut windows into her coats and jackets.

The coat windows were sliced away from the yoke which double buttoned to the shoulders.

Through the windows you could see white panel insets in the sheaths or the solid fabric of the dress.

There were coats for surprises. A reversible white linen opened to present a Joseph coat side in many colors

There were coats like security blankets which were simply comforting to have on the shoulders. One such was a well ventilated gray fishnet crocheted design over a gray sheath dress

Another was a fooler. Its white silk simplicity when closed suggested restrained elegance. When it was opened it proved to be lined with the same kind of blazing jeweled opulence as the jeweled sheath dress it hid.

Co-chairmen were Mrs Fred Matthews and Mrs. Earl Berhow.

Renaissance Silver

The newest sterling silver patterns are showing a return to Renaissance design. The magnificent old patterns are being reinterpreted in tune with modern tastes. It's a restatement of the Renaissance theme, rather than a straight copying of fresh, new kind of beauty for the table.
